V.P. Tries To Clarify Sec. Dulles Statement For Formosa People

TAIPEI (Thursday) — (INS) —Vice President Richard M. Nixon, in a farewell statement upon leaving Formosa, assured Chinese Nationalists today that the United States will continue to fight against admission of Red China to the United Nations.

In the statement the Vice President tried to clarify the confusion which arose in Chinese Nationalist circles over a statement by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Dulles said Monday that the United States could not veto Red China's admission into the U.N. General Assembly since veto power is exercised only in the U.N. Security Council.

Nixon told the Chinese there was "nothing new" in the Dulles statement and it indicated no change in American policy toward Red China.

Irritated

In the carefully prepared statement, Nixon said:

"The United States will continue to oppose vigorously admission to the United Nations of a government which has waged war against the United Nations, which has on its hands the blood of over 150,000 men from members of the United Nations who were fighting to carry out United Nations policy and which at this moment defies and obstructs the United Nations in its efforts to bring peace in Korea."

Nixon appeared irritated Tuesday when he learned of the Dulles statement—coming as it did in his good will tour of Formosa—but apparently cooled off in issuing the prepared statement.

The Vice President and his wife, Pat, on a 38,000-mile tour of the Far East, are flying to Seoul for a two-day stay and then will go to Tokyo.

During his Formosa visit, Nixon conferred at length with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and reported the Chinese leader was "very realistic" in his attitude toward international affairs.

During one appearance with Nixon, Chiang asserted:

"Next year will be the decisive year for us. It will be either victory or defeat, success or failure, glory or disgrace."

President Nettled By Bombardment Of Questions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, pleased at the California election result but nettled by persistent questioning about the Harry Truman-Harry Dexter White affair, held one of his most dramatic news conferences Wednesday.

He also found time, before knocking off work at 11 a.m. EST for a round of golf, to place an Armistice Day wreath of yellow chrysanthemums at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and to message condolences on the death of Saudi Arabian Ibn Saud.

Eisenhower looked grave and perhaps a little strained, in contrast to his usual bouncy manner, when he met with 175 newsmen who—as he well knew from a staff briefing beforehand—were bursting with questions about the White case.

And about that case the President, wearing a blue-gray double breasted suit and matching tie, volunteered no comments.

He began his news conference by noting Wednesday was Armistice Day—a day that always has meant a lot to Americans, he said—and he asked correspondents to mention this in their stories.

Then the President called attention to a Navy report saying race segregation has been virtually abolished at all installations in the South. "Most encouraging," he called this, in a prepared statement.

As for the Republican victory in Tuesday's California Congressional election, Eisenhower said he was pleased, adding with a grin that he had to qualify his pleasure somewhat last week, in the wake of GOP setbacks in New Jersey and elsewhere. The President joined in the rumble of laughter from newsmen.

Then he invited questions. And they bombarded him from all sides.

Eisenhower answered slowly, with evident caution, for the most part—though he sometimes spoke out with emphasis and his one-word negative was delivered almost explosively when a newsman asked, with reference to the White case, if he thought Truman ever knowingly appointed a spy to high office.

The President engaged in a slight tilt with Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who has engaged him in pointed question-and-answer exchanges before.

Wednesday, at the outset, Eisenhower waved Brandt down and gave the floor to another reporter.

Brandt's turn came soon afterward, however, and he said his office had asked him to bring up "this whole series of questions."

He responded to all of Brandt's questions, as it turned out, though with extreme terseness at times.

"Do you think," was one of the questions, "the administration's action in virtually putting a label of traitor on a former President is likely to damage our foreign relations?"

Eisenhower fixed Brandt with a steely glance and told him (A) he rejected the premise that the administration had done any such thing, and (B) he would not answer the question.

Seaton Calls White Case 'Astounding'

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

The disputed case of former President Harry Truman and the late alleged Communist spy Harry Dexter White was termed "astounding" by Assistant Secretary of Defense Fred Seaton of Hastings who went on to state that "I personally know the facts are exactly as Mr. Brownell gave them."

Mr. Seaton made a plane stop in Lincoln Wednesday enroute to Washington.

"The American people," said the former Republican United States senator, "do not understand just how deeply their government was infiltrated during the Democratic administration. I never did believe there was just one Alger Hiss.

'Not Intentional'

"There had to be some others to help Hiss and now here he (White) is. The Democrats did not intentionally do this but it has happened."

Seaton said he viewed White as a "Hiss-type character." Truman has been charged by Brownell with promoting White from assistant treasury secretary to U. S. representative in the International Monetary Fund in 1946 in the face of FBI reports that White spied for Russia.

"Of course," said Seaton, "it would be ridiculous for any one to say either former Presidents Roosevelt or Truman were Communists but this (Communists in government) is the result of a poor and lax administration."

The difference in the present and past administrations, said Seaton, is the fact that the Eisenhower administration seeks the FBI reports while the Democratic administration ignored them. Seaton termed the present administration as "government by confidence, not by cronies."

Free Rein Given Brownell By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rush of some Republican legislators to grill Harry S. Truman about the Harry Dexter White case slowed down Wednesday night after President Eisenhower backed Truman's patriotism and said he would not have slopped a subpoena on the ex-President.

There were signs, in fact, that Truman might not be questioned this Friday, as scheduled, if at all.

He had been subpoenaed for Friday in connection with Attorney General Brownell's charges that the former President promoted White in 1946 from assistant treasury secretary to U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund despite FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

The House un-American Activities Committee had called Truman.

Meanwhile the Senate Internal Security subcommittee scheduled a public, televised hearing Thursday at 1:30 p.m. CST to look into the matter and called Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as one of the witnesses.

The Dumont and American Broadcasting Co. TV networks were making plans to carry the telecast. Columbia will record it for later use.

Vaughan, Truman's former military aide, is the man Brownell said received the FBI reports sent to the White House for delivery to the President. Vaughan has said he does not recall any such reports on White.

Inconceivable, He Says

The televised hearings will follow both executive and subcommittee sessions at which a number of unnamed witnesses will be questioned.

Eisenhower told a news conference it was inconceivable that a man in Truman's position knowingly damaged the United States.

The President handed to Brownell the responsibility for bulwarking his charges with essential evidence. He wouldn't be a party, he said, to anything smacking of rank injustice to anyone.

At the same time he said he had found his attorney general interested in decency and justice and in cleaning up what he has got to clean up. Brownell, Eisenhower said, will be left to handle the White case in his own way.

The attorney general himself got out a statement saying there is no intent to impugn the loyalty of any high official of the Truman administration. But he said a new memo found at the State Department seems to place it beyond question that there was laxity in dealing with Communist infiltration of the government.

Repeats Spy Claim

He said the memo from Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman shows White's "espionage activities" came to the attention of the White House and other U. S. agencies in advance of White's promotion. Along with the memo, Brownell said, went a copy of an FBI report the attorney general contends identified White as a spy.

Up in New York, Truman wasn't saying yes or no as to whether he would obey the summons from the House un-American Activities Committee to show up Friday for a hearing.

In the midst of all the storm over the White case and a rash of statements from the White House, Justice Department and members of Congress, there were indications any hearings starring Truman might be put off to an indefinite future.

LEFT DANGLING

The chairman of the House committee, Rep. Velde (R-Ill) left the whole thing dangling in air. He said he would call a committee meeting as soon as absent members reach town. But it was uncertain just when that would be.

Three Democrats on his committee said they had been informed there would be no hearings this week, at least, and a Republican member told newsmen they would be justified in concluding there would be none right away.

Something in the nature of "Go Slow" signs seemed to be appearing, too, at Republican National Headquarters, where officials said they didn't much like the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

Byrnes, who broke with Truman and now is governor of

'Inhuman Warfare' Charge To Get Thorough Debate

U.N. Assembly Overrides Russian Objection On Airing U.S. Claims

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Assembly overrode Russian objections Wednesday and called for a thorough discussion of American charges that the Reds tortured and killed thousands of soldiers in "inhuman warfare" in Korea.

The delegates voted 53-5 for the formal debate in the full Assembly, but did not set a date. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the debate. India and Guatemala abstained. The Indian delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, said he would not take part in the decision or vote on any resolution put up by any side on atrocities. He said India is concerned in Korea now as chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. urged the Assembly to hear the American case. He later rose and shouted that Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was going too far in a heated speech of opposition.

The Assembly president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, twice tried to halt Vishinsky, but he roared on despite her oral spankings.

He charged the Americans put up the atrocity charges in an attempt to torpedo the Korean peace conference. He said the Americans actually were the culprits because they bombed and killed "innocent women and children" and even some prisoners of war. At the end, he said Lodge had not made a case for Assembly action and he (Vishinsky) opposed consideration of the charges in any organization of the U.N.

Lodge tried to answer Vishinsky, but Mrs. Pandit said he could speak fully when the debate began. She said he had made his case.

The atrocities case arose late last month when the U.S. Army charged that Communist Chinese and North Koreans tortured and killed thousands of American and other U.N. soldiers during the Korean War. There were instant demands from congressional leaders for U. N. action and Lodge filed the charges here.

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain briefly supported the American demand for debate. Poland's Juliusz Katz-Suchy endorsed Vishinsky's position.

Former Lincolnite Held For Child Abandonment In Iowa

WATERLOO, Ia. (Lincoln Star Special)—Dr. Eugene Van Ackeren, 36, former Lincoln resident, and his 32-year-old wife are being held here on a charge of child abandonment.

Waterloo police said the couple left their eight-month-old baby daughter in a next-door neighbor's car while they spent the night out.

Detective Capt. Emil Steffen said the couple were jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond after the neighbor discovered the child. The little girl has been placed in a Black Hawk County juvenile boarding home.

The detective captain said investigation developed the following apparent sequence of events:

The Van Ackerens, who moved here two weeks ago, wrapped the child in a snow suit and blanket Tuesday night. They put the baby into the parked car of a neighbor, D. R. Harshbarger, and went out for the night, according to officers.

Harshbarger discovered the child when he went to the car to drive to work about 7 a.m. Wednesday. He called police. Meantime, Dr. Van Ackeren arrived and asked Harshbarger if he found the baby.

Harshbarger quoted the doctor as saying, "We left one here by mistake."

Both the doctor and his wife, a former registered nurse, were placed under arrest. Mrs. Van Ackeren told police they have four other children still in Nebraska.

The four children have been living in Lincoln with relatives for about two years.

Dr. Van Ackeren received his degree from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in 1942. His wife is the former LaVonne Jones, a native of Missouri Valley, Ia.

Rural School District Has More Money Than Neighbor In Town

By JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

PALMYRA, Neb.—On one side of the road it's "feast" and on the other "famine."

That is the condition in which two adjoining school districts have found themselves financially this year. The installation of the new gas pumping station and pipeline near here accounts for the "feast" on the part of rural School District 8.

This rural district with 17 pupils has a total assessed valuation of $1,146,285. Palmyra district with 145 pupils, adjoining No. 8 on the south, has a valuation of only $815,505. This means that the small district has $67,428 in valuation behind each pupil and Palmyra has only $5,624 for each pupil.

To tip the balance even farther, Palmyra is in the midst of an extensive building program financed by a $95,000 bond issue. At the same time, District 8, is already the possessor of a model rural school, one which is equipped with modern plumbing, electricity and a furnace to heat the school.

As a result of this rampaging disparity the mill levy at Palmyra is 29.0 compared with only 6½ mills for the fortunate rural district—a difference of more than 75 per cent.

The high property valuation of the pumping station and the pipeline just missed the limits of the hard-pressed Palmyra district in its location north of the town.

Palmyra, meanwhile, is going ahead with its school expansion program which includes the addition of space for a school shop, vocational agriculture department and home economics rooms to the regular high school building.

3 New Skating Ponds Possible Here This Year

Lincoln ice skating enthusiasts will have at least two and probably three new skating areas this winter.

The park department will supply a new small pond for skating in Roberts Park and hopes to have the College View Park pond in skating condition. The city recreation department will have a new concrete slab covered with ice at the University Place Park at 49th and Francis.

In addition to those new areas, the Oak Creek and Sawyer-Snell lakes will be used for skating along with two other slabs at Peter Pan Park at 31st and W and Cooper Park at 6th and F.

All that is needed now to complete the skating program is cold weather for a long enough period to freeze the water.

Missing Blair Girl, Age 14, Said Married

BLAIR, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Mrs. Glen O. Tibbets Sr., Nashville farm woman, said Wednesday night she has located her 14-year-old daughter who disappeared Oct. 8, and Washington County Attorney Roy L. Anderson indicated that charges against the girl's husband might be dropped.

Mrs. Tibbets said she learned through a letter her daughter Cecilia wrote to an Omaha girl friend that she is married and living on a ranch-motel near Nevada, Mo.

Mrs. Tibbets said the girl's husband is James Densmore, 22, a former employe of a ranch near Nashville, according to the Associated Press.

Densmore was charged on Oct. 12th with "enticing and fraudulently carrying a child away and concealing the child from its parents."

Anderson told The Star early Thursday morning that he thought the girl's parents might be willing to drop the charges against Densmore.

If the parents are willing to let the couple remain married and do not press charges, Anderson said his office would not prosecute.

Dr. Harold S. Morgan, 3460 E. Pershing, has been selected a fellow in the American Association of Obstetricians, Gynecologists and Abdominal Surgeons.

Dr. Morgan was notified this week of his invitation to join the group, which has no other members in Lincoln.

A graduate of the University of Michigan medical school, Dr. Morgan has practiced in Lincoln since 1930.

Miss Helena Sieck Dies; Was Active In Civic Groups

Miss Helena Sieck, 68, 2227 So. 19, died Wednesday in a local hospital.

Miss Sieck is survived by two brothers, Henry of Martell and William J. of Lincoln.

Taps Sound For Roving Pelican

Lincoln's wandering pelican has traveled his last mile.

The ailing bird died Wednesday morning at the Antelope Park zoo where it was brought Tuesday after found along the side of Highway 77 near Reller's Lake. Park Superintendent Jim Ager said the big bird, pictured in Wednesday morning's Star, probably died of starvation.

The bird was fed late Tuesday but was evidently too far gone already, said Ager. The park department had treated the bird earlier this summer for skin infestations.

Before disappearing several months ago, the bird had made its home at Pioneers Park and Oak Creek Lake while recuperating.

Nebraska Scene To Be Calendar Art In Japan

A painting of Nebraska by a Nebraska artist has been accidentally reproduced on a Japanese calendar.

Dale Nichols of Tucson, Ariz., former David City resident, said he had just received word that the Dai Nippon Printing Co. of Tokyo accidentally included his painting, "Summer's Bounty," in their 1954 calendars.

The Japanese firm didn't see the copyright for fine prints held by the New York Graphic Society until after the plates were made, Nichols said. Therefore, he received a request asking if he would settle for a $35 fee.

Nichols said he rushed his acceptance.

"Why should I argue over a fee when there is an opportunity to have the people of Japan see the beauty of Nebraska," he said.

"Summer's Bounty" is now in the collection of the Nebraska Art Association.

Nurse Recruiting Imperative, Meet Speaker Says

"There must be no slackening in efforts to recruit new nurses—recruiting establishes our bank account for the future," Miss Ruth Sleeper, R.N., president of the National League for Nursing, said when asked what is nursing's biggest problem.

Miss Sleeper is here in Lincoln to address the two-day Nebraska Hospital Association convention on Thursday. Among her other accomplishments she is director of the School of Nursing, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and was an adviser on nursing at the World Health Assembly in Geneva, May, 1953.

Another suggestion Miss Sleeper offered for making nursing more attractive was to "keep nurses for nursing—not use them for jobs that do not require their special skills."

A nurse can get a job wherever she is, she said, and consequently there are many nurses who shift jobs each year. She suggested that hospitals set up "an atmosphere that makes the nurse feel she is helping to plan the patient's care" to keep her from leaving.

To replace outmoded practices, Miss Sleeper suggested that the team system be established. Under this system, she said, the nurses and auxiliary workers can care for a larger number of patients and still improve the care for each patient.

Miss Sleeper had an encouraging note on the progress of nurse recruiting. "At the present time," she said, "we are recruiting more nurses than we were before the war—and doing it in a period when there are fewer young women of school age."

Other speakers Thursday will be Frank Hicks of Chicago, editor of Hospital Management magazine, and the Rev. John J. Flanagan of St. Louis, executive director of the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada.

Friday speakers will include Glenn B. Sanberg of Minneapolis, Minn., and O. D. Atchason of Springfield, Ill., representatives of the American Collectors Association; Harry Mohler of St. Louis, president of the Mid-West Hospital Association, and Ronald Jydstrup of Chicago, American Hospital Association representative.

Eleven associated hospital groups will hold meetings in conjunction with the state convention.

Guest speakers at the Nebraska Dietetic Association meetings Thursday will be Mrs. Anna Boller Beach of Chicago, National Livestock and Meat Board member, and Doris T. Odle of Denver, treasurer-elect, University of Colorado, Department of Medicine.

Elizabeth Sancorn of Chicago, secretary of the committee on women's hospital auxiliaries of the American Hospital Association, will address the Nebraska Association of Hospital Auxiliaries Thursday afternoon.

Nebraska Association of Medical Record Librarians.
Nebraska Association of Nurse Anesthetists.
Nebraska Catholic Hospital Association.
Nebraska Occupational Therapy Association.
Nebraska Physical Therapy Association.

'Not Intentional'

"There had to be some others to help Hiss and now here he (White) is. The Democrats did not intentionally do this but it has happened."

Seaton said he viewed White as a "Hiss-type character." Truman has been charged by Brownell with promoting White from assistant treasury secretary to U. S. representative in the International Monetary Fund in 1946 in the face of FBI reports that White spied for Russia.

"Of course," said Seaton, "it would be ridiculous for any one to say either former Presidents Roosevelt or Truman were Communists but this (Communists in government) is the result of a poor and lax administration."

The difference in the present and past administrations, said Seaton, is the fact that the Eisenhower administration seeks the FBI reports while the Democratic administration ignored them. Seaton termed the present administration as "government by confidence, not by cronies."

Free Rein Given Brownell By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rush of some Republican legislators to grill Harry S. Truman about the Harry Dexter White case slowed down Wednesday night after President Eisenhower backed Truman's patriotism and said he would not have slopped a subpoena on the ex-President.

There were signs, in fact, that Truman might not be questioned this Friday, as scheduled, if at all.

He had been subpoenaed for Friday in connection with Attorney General Brownell's charges that the former President promoted White in 1946 from assistant treasury secretary to U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund despite FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

The House un-American Activities Committee had called Truman.

Meanwhile the Senate Internal Security subcommittee scheduled a public, televised hearing Thursday at 1:30 p.m. CST to look into the matter and called Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as one of the witnesses.

The Dumont and American Broadcasting Co. TV networks were making plans to carry the telecast. Columbia will record it for later use.

Vaughan, Truman's former military aide, is the man Brownell said received the FBI reports sent to the White House for delivery to the President. Vaughan has said he does not recall any such reports on White.

Inconceivable, Ike Says

The televised hearings will follow both morning and afternoon closed sessions of the committee at which a number of unnamed witnesses will be questioned.

Eisenhower told a news conference it was inconceivable that a man in Truman's position knowingly damaged the United States.

The President handed to Brownell the responsibility for bulwarking his charges with essential evidence. He wouldn't be a party, he said, to anything smacking of rank injustice to anyone.

At the same time he said he had found his attorney general interested in decency and justice and in cleaning up what he has got to clean up. Brownell, Eisenhower said, will be left to handle the White case in his own way.

The attorney general himself got out a statement saying there is no intent to impugn the loyalty of any high official of the Truman administration. But he said a new memo found at the State Department seems to place it beyond question that there was laxity in dealing with Communist infiltration of the government.

Repeats Spy Claim

He said the memo from Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman shows White's "espionage activities" came to the attention of the White House and other U. S. agencies in advance of White's promotion. Along with the memo, Brownell said, went a copy of an FBI report the attorney general contends identified White as a spy.

Up in New York, Truman wasn't saying yes or no as to whether he would obey the summons from the House un-American Activities Committee to show up Friday for a hearing.

In the midst of all the storm over the White case and a rash of statements from the White House, Justice Department and members of Congress, there were indications any hearings starring Truman might be put off to an indefinite future.

LEFT DANGLING

The chairman of the House committee, Rep. Velde (R-Ill) left the whole thing dangling in air. He said he would call a committee meeting as soon as absent members reach town. But it was uncertain just when that would be.

Three Democrats on his committee said they had been informed there would be no hearings this week, at least, and a Republican member told newsmen they would be justified in concluding there would be none right away.

Something in the nature of "Go Slow" signs seemed to be appearing, too, at Republican National Headquarters, where officials said they didn't much like the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

'Inhuman Warfare' Charge To Get Thorough Debate

U.N. Assembly Overrides Russian Objection On Airing U.S. Claims

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U.N. Assembly overrode Russian objections Wednesday and called for a thorough discussion of American charges that the Reds tortured and killed thousands of soldiers in "inhuman warfare" in Korea.

The delegates voted 53-5 for the formal debate in the full Assembly, but did not set a date. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the debate. India and Guatemala abstained. The Indian delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, said he would not take part in the decision or vote on any resolution put up by any side on atrocities. He said India is concerned in Korea now as chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. urged the Assembly to hear the American case. He later rose and shouted that Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was going too far in a heated speech of opposition.

The Assembly president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, twice tried to halt Vishinsky, but he roared on despite her oral spankings.

He charged the Americans put up the atrocity charges in an attempt to torpedo the Korean peace conference. He said the Americans actually were the culprits because they bombed and killed "innocent women and children" and even some prisoners of war. At the end, he said Lodge had not made a case for Assembly action and he (Vishinsky) opposed consideration of the charges in any organization of the U.N.

Lodge tried to answer Vishinsky, but Mrs. Pandit said he could speak fully when the debate began. She said he had made his case.

The atrocities case arose late last month when the U.S. Army charged that Communist Chinese and North Koreans tortured and killed thousands of American and other U.N. soldiers during the Korean War. There were instant demands from congressional leaders for U. N. action and Lodge filed the charges here.

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain briefly supported the American demand for debate. Poland's Juliusz Katz-Suchy endorsed Vishinsky's position.

Former Lincolnite Held For Child Abandonment In Iowa

WATERLOO, Ia. (Lincoln Star Special)—Dr. Eugene Van Ackeren, 36, former Lincoln resident, and his 32-year-old wife are being held here on a charge of child abandonment.

Waterloo police said the couple left their eight-month-old baby daughter in a next-door neighbor's car while they spent the night out.

Detective Capt. Emil Steffen said the couple were jailed in lieu of $1,000 bond after the neighbor discovered the child. The little girl has been placed in a Black Hawk County juvenile boarding home.

The detective captain said investigation developed the following apparent sequence of events:

The Van Ackerens, who moved here two weeks ago, wrapped the child in a snow suit and blanket Tuesday night. They put the baby into the parked car of a neighbor, D. R. Harshbarger, and went out for the night, according to officers.

Harshbarger discovered the child when he went to the car to drive to work about 7 a.m. Wednesday. He called police. Meantime, Dr. Van Ackeren arrived and asked Harshbarger if he found the baby.

Harshbarger quoted the doctor as saying, "We left one here by mistake."

Both the doctor and his wife, a former registered nurse, were placed under arrest. Mrs. Van Ackeren told police they have four other children still in Nebraska.

The four children have been living in Lincoln with relatives for about two years.

Dr. Van Ackeren received his degree from the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in 1942. His wife is the former LaVonne Jones, a native of Missouri Valley, Ia.

Missing Blair Girl, Age 14, Said Married

BLAIR, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Mrs. Glen O. Tibbets Sr., Nashville farm woman, said Wednesday night she has located her 14-year-old daughter who disappeared Oct. 8, and Washington County Attorney Roy I. Anderson indicated that charges against the girl's husband might be dropped.

Mrs. Tibbets said she learned through a letter her daughter Cecilia wrote to an Omaha girl friend that she is married and living on a ranch-motel near Nevada, Mo.

Mrs. Tibbets said the girl's husband is James Densmore, 22, a former employe of a ranch near Nashville, according to the Associated Press.

Densmore was charged on Oct. 12th with "enticing and fraudulently carrying a child away and concealing the child from its parents."

Anderson told The Star early Thursday morning that he thought the girl's parents might be willing to drop the charges against Densmore.

If the parents are willing to let the couple remain married and do not press charges, Anderson said his office would not prosecute.

3 New Skating Ponds Possible Here This Year

Lincoln ice skating enthusiasts will have at least two and probably three new skating areas this winter.

The park department will supply a new small pond for skating in Roberts Park and hopes to have the College View Park pond in skating condition. The city recreation department will have a new concrete slab covered with ice at the University Place Park at 49th and Francis.

In addition to those new areas, the Oak Creek and Sawyer-Snell lakes will be used for skating along with two other slabs at Peter Pan Park at 31st and W and Cooper Park at 6th and F.

All that is needed now to complete the skating program is cold weather for a long enough period to freeze the water.

Fog And Freezing Drizzle Invades Central Nebraska

Nebraska Scene To Be Calendar Art In Japan

A painting of Nebraska by a Nebraska artist has been accidentally reproduced on a Japanese calendar.

Dale Nichols of Tucson, Ariz., former David City resident, said he had just received word that the Dai Nippon Printing Co. of Tokyo accidentally included his painting, "Summer's Bounty," in their 1954 calendars.

The Japanese firm didn't see the copyright for fine prints held by the New York Graphic Society until after the plates were made, Nichols said. Therefore, he received a request asking if he would settle for a $35 fee.

Nichols said he rushed his acceptance.

"Why should I argue over a fee when there is an opportunity to have the people of Japan see the beauty of Nebraska," he said.

"Summer's Bounty" is now in the collection of the Nebraska Art Association.

Nurse Recruiting Imperative, Meet Speaker Says

"There must be no slackening in efforts to recruit new nurses—recruiting establishes our bank account for the future." Miss Ruth Sleeper, R.N., president of the National League for Nursing, said when asked what is nursing's biggest problem.

Miss Sleeper is here in Lincoln to address the two-day Nebraska Hospital Association convention on Thursday. Among her other accomplishments she is director of the School of Nursing, Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and was an adviser on nursing at the World Health Assembly in Geneva, May, 1953.

Another suggestion Miss Sleeper offered for making nursing more attractive was to "keep nurses for nursing—not use them for jobs that do not require their special skills."

A nurse can get a job wherever she is, she said, and consequently there are many nurses who shift jobs each year. She suggested that hospitals set up "an atmosphere that makes the nurse feel she is helping to plan the patient's care" to keep her from leaving.

To replace outmoded practices, Miss Sleeper suggested that the team system be established. Under this system, she said, the nurses and auxiliary workers can care for a larger number of patients and still improve the care for each patient.

Miss Sleeper had an encouraging note on the progress of nurse recruiting. "At the present time," she said, "we are recruiting more nurses than we were before the war—and doing it in a period when there are fewer young women of school age."

Other speakers Thursday will be Frank Hicks of Chicago, editor of Hospital Management magazine, and the Rev. John J. Flanagan of St. Louis, executive director of the Catholic Hospital Association of the United States and Canada.

Friday speakers will include Glenn B. Sanberg of Minneapolis, Minn., and O. D. Atchason of Springfield, Ill., representatives of the American Collectors Association; Harry Mohler of St. Louis, president of the Mid-West Hospital Association, and Ronald Jydstrup of Chicago, American Hospital Association representative.

Eleven associated hospital groups will hold meetings in conjunction with the state convention.

Guest speakers at the Nebraska Dietetic Association meetings Thursday will be Mrs. Anna Boller Beach of Chicago, National Livestock and Meat Board member, and Doris T. Odle of Denver, treasurer-elect, University of Colorado, Department of Medicine.

Elizabeth Sancorn of Chicago, secretary of the committee on women's hospital auxiliaries of the American Hospital Association, will address the Nebraska Association of Hospital Auxiliaries Thursday afternoon.

Other organizations meeting are:

Association of Hospital Pharmacists of the Midwest
Nebraska Association of Medical Record Librarians.
Nebraska Association of Nurse Anesthetists.
Nebraska Catholic Hospital Association.
Nebraska Occupational Therapy Association.
Nebraska Physical Therapy Association.
Nebraska Practical Nurse Association.
Nebraska State League for Nursing.

Taps Sound For Roving Pelican

Lincoln's wandering pelican has traveled his last mile.

The ailing bird died Wednesday morning at the Antelope Park zoo where it was brought Tuesday after found along the side of Highway 77 near Reller's Lake. Park Superintendent Jim Ager said the big bird, pictured in Wednesday morning's Star, probably died of starvation.

The bird was fed late Tuesday but was evidently too far gone already, said Ager. The park department had treated the bird earlier this summer for skin infestations.

Before disappearing several months ago, the bird had made its home at Pioneers Park and Oak Creek Lake while recuperating.

HST Ready With White Case 'Facts'

. . . Vindication Seen

NEW YORK (INS)—A close friend of Harry S. Truman quoted the former President Wednesday night as saying he expects to be "fully vindicated" when the public gets all the facts in the Harry Dexter White case.

The long-time friend pictured Truman as being "fully confident" of his position and ready to present "all the facts" in the case.

The source, which has been close to Truman for many years, told INS Truman has not yet made up his mind whether to honor the subpoena of the House Un-American Activities Committee which demands his appearance Friday morning.

Earlier, another friend, emerging from a brief talk with Truman, quoted him as quipping of the committee summons "They'd better be there on time, because I will."

When informed by newsmen later that the House committee was reportedly considering holding no hearings this week, Truman quipped:

"What, no guts?"

Strategy Meet

INS was told Truman called his former "official family" to a personal strategy meeting Wednesday at his Waldorf-Astoria suite and was in telephone conversation with those who could not attend.

The reliable source, who insisted that his name not be used, said as a result of the day-long talks, Truman and his associates are preparing the former President's presentation of the facts as he knows them to rebut Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The Attorney General accused Truman of promoting White to a high international post though he had seen FBI reports calling White a Russian spy.

Truman Wednesday morning, in refusing to comment on the case, told newsmen who accompanied him on the brisk pre-breakfast stroll, "You'd better be here tomorrow morning."

War Dead Honored

By The Associated Press

In simple and traditional ceremonies honoring the dead of World War I, Americans marked another Armistice Day Wednesday.

President Eisenhower silently placed a wreath of large, yellow chrysanthemums at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The principal address there was delivered by Secretary of the Army Stevens, who said there can be no real peace in the world unless it is accompanied by security, integrity and liberty.

36 Snakes Taken From Abandoned Well Near Stella

STELLA, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special) — An old, abandoned well southwest of here has yielded a total of 36 snakes of assorted size and variety.

Melvin James, a local well-driller, found the snakes in an old rock-sided well on an abandoned farm. James estimated that the well was at least 70 years old.

In removing the rock from the well, James came across a large bull snake and a Blue Racer snake in a crevice about 12 feet from the top. Further digging turned up a super-market assortment of the reptiles.

News Around The Globe

Coaxing Completely Stalled

From Press Dispatches

PANMUNJOM (Thursday)—The Communist Command for the seventh straight time today demanded the right to interview anti-Red Chinese POWs in Compound C-22 and Korea's "Operation Persuasion" remained completely stalled.

As a result of the unyielding Communist stand, a subcommittee of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission began the job of drafting a letter notifying Allied and Communist commanders that explanations to anti-Red POWs are for all practical purposes ended.

Chinese POWs in compound C-22 refuse to attend explanation sessions and the commission has rejected Communist demands to use force to compel the POWs to hear Red "persuaders."

Meanwhile, diplomatic staff advisers worked in secret in their efforts to find common ground for planning a Korean peace conference. U.S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean and Chinese and Red Korean foreign ministry councilors are deadlocked over Communist insistence on inviting Asian neutrals to the peace talks. The staff officers met for 55 minutes today and recessed until 11 a.m. tomorrow (8 p.m. Thursday, CST).

HST Affair Hit

LONDON (Thursday) (AP)—British newspapers of all political complexions today soundly criticized the trend in American affairs that called former President Harry S. Truman before the House un-American Activities Committee to testify in a loyalty case.

The liberal News Chronicle asked: "Is it understood how seriously (world) opinion of America is damaged by such an exhibition of political rowdyism?"

The Laborite Daily Herald described the incident as "this crowning folly of the witch hunters."

Trade Board OKd

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada and the United States have agreed to set up a joint economics board to iron out common trade problems without resorting to restrictive action, reliable sources said Wednesday night.

Informants said an announcement likely will be made shortly, outlining details of how the board will function. They said the membership will consist of top-ranking Canadian and American cabinet ministers.

Announcement of the unique board, which will guide joint Canada-U. S. trade policy in the same way that joint defense policy is guided through the permanent joint defense board, may be timed with the arrival of President Eisenhower. The President is due Friday for a two-day state visit.

Police Puzzled

CLINTON, Ky. (AP)—The identity of a penniless hitchhiker killed in a traffic accident near here had police puzzled Wednesday:

Was the victim Thomas John Marsh, once sought in the $600,000 Greenlease kidnaping case; or was he Henry Epley of Hannibal, Mo., missing for four months?

A wallet on the body bore the name of Billy Stars of (2731 Market St.) Mexico, Mo., but state police said the man's physical characteristics were almost identical with those of Marsh.

Quirino Concedes

MANILA, (Thursday) (AP) — President Elpidio Quirino today conceded victory in the Philippines presidential election to Ramon Magsaysay, the Nacionalista-Democratic candidate.

The triumphant Magsaysay, with a plurality of almost a million, was not on hand for comment. He left Manila by boat for a short cruise with his family.

An unofficial total at 9 a.m. gave the Nacionalista-Democratic coalition candidate 1,687,823 votes to 708,398 for Quirino.

'Confessions' Quoted

TOKYO, (Thursday) (AP)—The Red China Radio today quoted "confessions" of 19 captured U.S. airmen and called them "an overwhelmingly heavy blow" to a U.S. statement in the U. N. General Assembly last month denying germ warfare in Korea.

The airmen, later released, and the United States have branded the germ warfare charges as false and accused the Communists of extracting the purported confessions by torture.

Brutal Slaying Is Uncovered In California

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — The harsh ring of a telephone in the bedroom of Mrs. Rowena Johnson early Wednesday uncovered one of the most weird and brutal murders in Bay Area history.

On the other end of the line was a policeman, who had just halted an auto after a wild chase through darkened streets.

"The man we stopped said you had loaned him the car," the officer said.

"Just a minute," Mrs. Johnson said sleepily into the mouthpiece, "I'll ask my husband."

Then she screamed hysterically. Beside her lay the battered body of her husband. His body was punctured by 82 stab wounds. His head was bashed in.

.90 MPH Chase

Officers rushed to her home and found her still shrieking incoherently, sitting on the bed beside the body of her husband, Lawrence M. Johnson, a 31-year-old merchant seaman.

Police Inspector Darrell Davis gave this account of the strange case:

A prowler car officer saw an auto moving erratically through the streets Wednesday morning and gave chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

After the officer fired five shots at the fleeing auto, it careened into a dead end street and slammed to a stop against a fence. Out came Harry. D. Waller, 42-year-old Oakland sewing machine salesman.

Searching the car, officer Omar Callaway said he found a bloody knife, a bloodcrusted hammer, jacket and towel. Waller told Callaway he borrowed the car from Mrs. Johnson and gave her telephone number.

Then came the phone call and the dash to the Johnson home.

Woman Has 20-Minute Wait For Aid

A 73-year-old Lincoln woman lay for 20 minutes on a sidewalk Wednesday before she got help after tripping when she caught a heel on a broken piece of paving.

The woman, Mrs. A. D. Brickley of 1222 So. 14, is reported in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital. She suffered a broken left shoulder and bruised hip in her fall on C St. between 13th and 14th.

An unidentified passerby found Mrs. Brickley lying on the sidewalk and phoned, from a nearby home, for an ambulance. Police investigating said they were unable to get the name of the person who phoned for the ambulance, because the person had left.

Mrs. Brickley's daughter, Emily, of the same address, said her mother may have suffered a chipped right elbow, but that her mother's condition otherwise was good.

Letter Carriers Honor Whitmore Upon Retirement

Victor R. Whitmore, a post office employee for the past 34 years, was honored by the Lincoln Letter Carriers Association at a retirement ceremony at a meeting at the American Forward Clubrooms.

Born in Gibbon in 1892, Whitmore began his postal career as a substitute clerk in 1920. In 1921, he was appointed a mail carrier—a position he held for 33 years.

For the past 18 years, Whitmore has served as letter carrier in the Stuart Building. At his retirement ceremony, he was presented with an electric drill set by the association and $224 donated by Stuart Building patrons.

The association elected Scotty Harris and Charles Deats as delegates to the national conference of letter carriers in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 18.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. Gordon Roberts

Failure to recognize the difference between two entirely different kinds of competition has caused serious dislocations under the Capitalist system, and has been instrumental in bringing about a trend toward eliminating Capitalism entirely.

Black Friday, September 24, 1869, illustrates the damaging effect upon society of hostile competition. On Black Friday, no ship in this country could move from harbor because no gold was available for international exchange. Two men had endeavored to increase their own wealth without constructive, creative effort, through an attempt to corner the gold market.

These men wished to belittle other financiers through excelling them.

Constructive competition has been demonstrated in the scientific field by such men as Michael Faraday, Isaac Newton, and Albert Einstein. Such men competed primarily against their own capacities in return for the opportunity granted them to do so.

In the industrial field, such men as Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, and Henry Ford did the same thing.

Capitalism is, nevertheless, essentially based upon the instinct of self-preservation. This instinct is fundamentally far stronger than the desire to promote some form of social organization, however necessary.

Self-preservation might be compared to a 10,000 h.p. engine. However necessary social organization may be, instinctively the desire to promote social organization might be compared to an engine of less horse power. The need for promoting social organization does not justify shutting down the 10,000 h.p. engine. Results to date indicate that such action does not constitute sound human engineering.

Two engines in the form of individual and cooperative effort are needed.

This column runs Monday through Friday.

Strategy Meet

INS was told Truman called his former "official family" to a personal strategy meeting Wednesday at his Waldorf-Astoria suite and was in telephone conversation with those who could not attend.

The reliable source, who insisted that his name not be used, said as a result of the day-long talks, Truman and his associates are preparing the former President's presentation of the facts as he knows them to rebut Attorney General Herbert Brownell.

The Attorney General accused Truman of promoting White to a high international post though he had seen FBI reports calling White a Russian spy.

Truman Wednesday morning, in refusing to comment on the case, told newsmen who accompanied him on the brisk prebreakfast stroll, "You'd better be here tomorrow morning."

War Dead Honored

By The Associated Press

In simple and traditional ceremonies honoring the dead of World War I, Americans marked another Armistice Day Wednesday.

President Eisenhower silently placed a wreath of large, yellow chrysanthemums at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The principal address there was delivered by Secretary of the Army Stevens, who said there can be no real peace in the world unless it is accompanied by security, integrity and liberty.

36 Snakes Taken From Abandoned Well Near Stella

STELLA, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special) — An old, abandoned well southwest of here has yielded a total of 36 snakes of assorted size and variety.

Melvin James, a local well-driller, found the snakes in an old rock-sided well on an abandoned farm. James estimated that the well was at least 70 years old.

In removing the rock from the well, James came across a large bull snake and a Blue Racer snake in a crevice about 12 feet from the top. Further digging turned up a super-market assortment of the reptiles.

News Around The Globe

Coaxing Completely Stalled

From Press Dispatches

PANMUNJOM (Thursday)—The Communist Command for the seventh straight time today demanded the right to interview anti-Red Chinese POWs in Compound C-22 and Korea's "Operation Persuasion" remained completely stalled.

As a result of the unyielding Communist stand, a subcommittee of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission began the job of drafting a letter notifying Allied and Communist commanders that explanations to anti-Red POWs are for all practical purposes ended.

Chinese POWs in compound C-22 refuse to attend explanation sessions and the commission has rejected Communist demands to use force to compel the POWs to hear Red "persuaders."

Meanwhile, diplomatic staff advisers worked in secret in their efforts to find common ground for planning a Korean peace conference. U.S. Envoy Arthur H. Dean and Chinese and Red Korean foreign ministry councilors are deadlocked over Communist insistence on inviting Asian neutrals to the peace talks. The staff officers met for 55 minutes today and recessed until 11 a.m. tomorrow (8 p.m. Thursday, CST).

HST Affair Hit

LONDON (Thursday) (AP)—British newspapers of all political complexions today soundly criticized the trend in American affairs that called former President Harry S. Truman before the House un-American Activities Committee to testify in a loyalty case.

The liberal News Chronicle asked: "Is it understood how seriously (world) opinion of America is damaged by such an exhibition of political rowdyism?"

The Laborite Daily Herald described the incident as "this crowning folly of the witch hunters."

Trade Board OKd

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada and the United States have agreed to set up a joint economics board to iron out common trade problems without resorting to restrictive action, reliable sources said Wednesday night.

Informants said an announcement likely will be made shortly, outlining details of how the board will function. They said the membership will consist of top-ranking Canadian and American cabinet ministers.

Announcement of the unique board, which will guide joint Canada-U. S. trade policy in the same way that joint defense policy is guided through the permanent joint defense board, may be timed with the arrival of President Eisenhower. The President is due Friday for a two-day state visit.

Police Puzzled

CLINTON, Ky. (AP)—The identity of a penniless hitchhiker killed in a traffic accident near here had police puzzled Wednesday:

Was the victim Thomas John Marsh, once sought in the $600,000 Greenlease kidnaping case; or was he Henry Epley of Hannibal, Mo., missing for four months?

A wallet on the body bore the name of Billy Stars of (2731 Market St.) Mexico, Mo., but state police said the man's physical characteristics were almost identical with those of Marsh.

Quirino Concedes

MANILA, (Thursday) (AP) — President Elpidio Quirino today conceded victory in the Philippines presidential election to Ramon Magsaysay, the Nacionalista-Democratic candidate.

The triumphant Magsaysay, with a plurality of almost a million, was not on hand for comment. He left Manila by boat for a short cruise with his family.

An unofficial total at 9 a.m. gave the Nacionalista-Democratic coalition candidate 1,687,823 votes to 708,398 for Quirino.

'Confessions' Quoted

TOKYO, (Thursday) (AP)—The Red China Radio today quoted "confessions" of 19 captured U.S. airmen and called them "an overwhelmingly heavy blow" to a U.S. statement in the U. N. General Assembly last month denying germ warfare in Korea.

The airmen, later released, and the United States have branded the germ warfare charges as false and accused the Communists of extracting the purported confessions by torture.

Brutal Slaying Is Uncovered In California

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — The harsh ring of a telephone in the bedroom of Mrs. Rowena Johnson early Wednesday uncovered one of the most weird and brutal murders in Bay Area history.

On the other end of the line was a policeman, who had just halted an auto after a wild chase through darkened streets.

"The man we stopped said you had loaned him the car," the officer said.

"Just a minute," Mrs. Johnson said sleepily into the mouthpiece, "I'll ask my husband."

Then she screamed hysterically. Beside her lay the battered body of her husband. His body was punctured by 82 stab wounds. His head was bashed in.

.90 MPH Chase

Officers rushed to her home and found her still shrieking incoherently, sitting on the bed beside the body of her husband, Lawrence M. Johnson, a 31-year-old merchant seaman.

Police Inspector Darrell Davis gave this account of the strange case:

A prowler car officer saw an auto moving erratically through the streets Wednesday morning and gave chase at speeds up to 90 miles an hour.

After the officer fired five shots at the fleeing auto, it careened into a dead end street and slammed to a stop against a fence. Out came Harry. D. Waller, 42-year-old Oakland sewing machine salesman.

Searching the car, officer Omar Callaway said he found a bloody knife, a bloodcrusted hammer, jacket and towel. Waller told Callaway he borrowed the car from Mrs. Johnson and gave her telephone number.

Then came the phone call and the dash to the Johnson home.

Woman Has 20-Minute Wait For Aid

A 73-year-old Lincoln woman lay for 20 minutes on a sidewalk Wednesday before she got help after tripping when she caught a heel on a broken piece of paving.

The woman, Mrs. A. D. Brickley of 1222 So. 14, is reported in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital. She suffered a broken left shoulder and bruised hip in her fall on C St. between 13th and 14th.

An unidentified passerby found Mrs. Brickley lying on the sidewalk and phoned, from a nearby home, for an ambulance. Police investigating said they were unable to get the name of the person who phoned for the ambulance, because the person had left.

Mrs. Brickley's daughter, Emily, of the same address, said her mother may have suffered a chipped right elbow, but that her mother's condition otherwise was good.

Letter Carriers Honor Whitmore Upon Retirement

Victor R. Whitmore, a post office employee for the past 34 years, was honored by the Lincoln Letter Carriers Association at a retirement ceremony at a meeting at the American Forward Clubrooms.

Born in Gibbon in 1892, Whitmore began his postal career as a substitute clerk in 1920. In 1921, he was appointed a mail carrier —a position he held for 33 years.

For the past 18 years, Whitmore has served as letter carrier in the Stuart Building. At his retirement ceremony, he was presented with an electric drill set by the association and $224 donated by Stuart Building patrons.

The association elected Scotty Harris and Charles Deats as delegates to the national conference of letter carriers in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 18.

Services Friday For Mrs. Brewin

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Brewin of Arapahoe, Neb., will be held in Grand Island Friday afternoon. She died Wednesday in a Beatrice hospital after being in ill health for several years.

Mrs. Brewin was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolaus Breuting, pioneer farm settlers of the Grand Island area. Mrs. Brewin went to Arapahoe to make her home while a young woman.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Failure to recognize the difference between two entirely different kinds of competition has caused serious dislocations under the Capitalist system, and has been instrumental in bringing about a trend toward eliminating Capitalism entirely.

Black Friday, September 24, 1869, illustrates the damaging effect upon society of hostile competition. On Black Friday, no ship in this country could move from harbor because no gold was available for international exchange. Two men had endeavored to increase their own wealth without constructive, creative effort, through an attempt to corner the gold market.

These men wished to belittle other financiers through excelling them.

Constructive competition has been demonstrated in the scientific field by such men as Michael Faraday, Isaac Newton, and Albert Einstein. Such men competed primarily against their own capacities in return for the opportunity granted them to do so.

In the industrial field, such men as Alexander Graham Bell, Thomas Edison, and Henry Ford did the same thing.

Capitalism is, nevertheless, essentially based upon the instinct of self-preservation. This instinct is fundamentally far stronger than the desire to promote some form of social organization, however necessary.

Self-preservation might be compared to a 10,000 h.p. engine. However necessary social organization may be, instinctively the desire to promote social organization might be compared to an engine of less horse power. The need for promoting social organization does not justify shutting down the 10,000 h.p. engine. Results to date indicate that such action does not constitute sound human engineering.

Two engines in the form of individual and cooperative effort are needed.

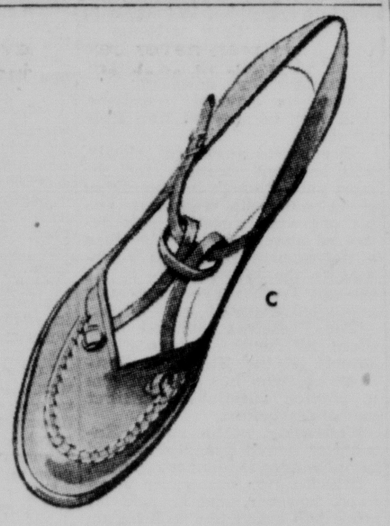

This column runs Monday through Friday.

A Call To Reason

Extract from the Associated Press account of President Eisenhower's press conference at the White House Wednesday (Armistice Day morning):

"President Eisenhower declared Wednesday he personally never would have subpoenaed former President Truman in the Harry Dexter White case. He declared, too, it is inconceivable to him that Truman would do anything to damage the United States.

"At a news conference which dealt almost entirely with the politically explosive case, Eisenhower said he was voicing his own opinion in declaring he is opposed to subpoenaing Truman."

In all the noise and fury of recent days since a native-born Nebraskan, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, the chief law-enforcement officer of the United States government, hauled out and dusted off a case which earlier had been presented to a federal grand jury, only to be brushed aside by that grand jury, it has been crystal clear to thoughtful Americans that what America needs most in these hours is a return to reason.

Do men occupying the high office of President deliberately court a place of everlasting infamy in the pages of history? Do men, bearing all the crushing burdens of that office, knowingly betray not only it but betray themselves? When partisanship gets out of hand, and frequently it does, it seems difficult if not impossible to restore even a semblance of common sense to controversy. It seems to become difficult even to think sensibly. This is the awful aspect which clouds the national scene at times.

What did the same news agency report former President Truman telling a New York audience Tuesday night?

Departing from his prepared text, Mr. Truman declared:

"In all I did when I was President to combat Communism, I always sought to preserve the rights of the individual. I always tried to hold in check those ugly passions of intolerance and hate which can be so easily manipulated by unscrupulous demagogues. For this I was sometimes accused of being soft. This, of course, is ridiculous. . . . The great measures we took in foreign policy to check Communist aggression abroad and the measures we took at home to enforce the laws against espionage and sabotage and subversion are evidence that I was moving relentlessly against all our enemies, both foreign and domestic. But if our central government does not distinguish between the real dangers of Communism and the hysterical fear of it, if our national leaders do not stand firm against panic, and against the invasion of individual freedoms, then we are in for some bad times."

Those words, particularly the closing words, need to be read and re-read. They utter a great truth of vital importance in this land of the free.

Rarely has there been a press conference in this country which has presented such a sorry picture as the one that took place in Washington Wednesday.

★

One of the newsmen asked the President if he felt Mr. Truman would knowingly appoint a Communist spy to office. Mr. Eisenhower replied that he did not—that such a thing was inconceivable to him. Still another, the representative of the New York Times, asked the President if—a grand jury having decided that there is insufficient evidence against a man to indict him—it is proper for the attorney general to accuse this man of being a spy and accuse a former President of harboring him. To which the President replied that he is neither a judge nor an accomplished lawyer—questions along that line should be addressed to Brownell.

All in all, a sad, depressing press conference which could not give to people living beyond the borders of the United States anything but a drab picture of this country.

Who is it that speaks for this administration? The President, it would seem, has sought to make amends for the actions of his attorney general and for congressional committee members. The time has come for him to crack down on those around him—to assert his own leadership—to insist that those he placed in responsible posts be responsible to him.

Where Regimentation Ends

A group speaking for the Hall County Farm Bureau Federation took out after Dr. Clyde Mitchell, chairman of the Agricultural Economics Department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska. It did not approve of an article—a very objective, moderate article — which Dr. Mitchell had written for a farm publication, Capper's Farmer. They did not like what Dr. Mitchell wrote, because it did not fit in with their views. They felt the Board of Regents should do something about it—just what, they left for speculation by the public.

We have known Dr. Mitchell ever since he became a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska. He knows his field; he is an outstanding educator. Most Nebraskans who know anything about the magazine for which Dr. Mitchell wrote upon the request of the management itself know that the magazine was founded by the late Sen. Arthur Capper, a lifelong Republican, long active in Kansas Republican politics. Now, Dr. Mitchell's "offense," it appears was to speak kind words about the farm program that has taken shape in the last two decades — taken shape chiefly in a bipartisan atmosphere. Dr. Mitchell was critical of the proposed flexible price support program, long the darling of the Farm Bureau Federation leaders, long advocated by Sen. Aiken of Vermont, and apparently the direction in which Secretary of Agriculture Benson is moving.

So the Hall County group was critical of Dr. Mitchell.

And what is the basis of their criticism?

They do not like "regimentation" out on the farm but when that is said, there must be some reservation. They have no qualms to regimentation whenever it comes to what somebody else differing from them may think.

Of Men And Things

A solid Republican party victory in California to fill a vacant seat in the lower house of Congress may go a long way toward restoring party confidence in the state of the nation politically. It was a sweet victory for the Republicans, sweetened by bitter adversity in earlier, isolated tests at the polls.

★

A Democratic organization which may have been blinded by dust, due to unexpected earlier successes, could conclude only in eyeing the returns that there is no substitute for effective, enthusiastic organization. The congressional district which gave the Republicans a badly needed victory to offset a series of disturbing reverses had been represented by a Republican, Los Angeles present Mayor Morris Paulson, who resigned his seat in order to run for mayor. It had been represented by a Republican since 1942. Republican fears grew out of the fact in an intra-party fight, two candidates were seeking the office, two popular men, vote-getters, and it was thought that the presence of two party candidates on the ballot would split the vote sufficiently to enable a young, energetic, appealing Democrat to win. That did not happen. The Republicans concentrated upon the winner, little short of a miracle in view of the circumstances, a political mirror reflecting the harder [illegible] or.

No Substitute For Organization

It is a matter of record that California Republicans in this particular district did a better job than their Democratic brethren in getting out the vote—that they succeeded in persuading party followers to concentrate upon the man backed by the organization—and finally, that they turned back a Democratic bid for another seat in the House of Representatives when control of that body had become too thin for the peace of mind of the party in power. This was a "must" in the minds of party leaders—and they got the job done.

★

No one can say to what extent the unprecedented action of Attorney General Herbert Brownell influenced the results in California. Ordinarily people make up their minds well in advance of such eleventh-hour maneuvers as the one by the attorney general of the United States when he reached back into the dim past to revive the White case, whom he charged on the basis of FBI information with being a Russian spy, coddled and promoted by former President Harry Truman. It is a terrible accusation to make against any man who has served the American people in the office of their Chief Executive—an amazing charge—which may or may not have affected the California result.

What About The White Case?

★

The congressional elections of 1954 are ahead of us. For the time being, Republican party leadership can claim that when the chips were down in California, after the loss of five straight congressional tests in special elections, the party came through with a demonstration of continued confidence in the Eisenhower administration. The fight for control of congress in the 1954 off-year elections will be determined more by what develops during the intervening months than by what has taken place.

Bright Picture

America lives a life of contradictions. It reads in one column of the paper of the impending doom to civilization by atomic war. In gloom it starts to set its affairs in order for that final day. But in the next column it leans back with pleasure to read about the bigger, brighter-than-ever future awaiting all and not more than 20 years away.

The latest piece of good news, which human experience indicates is much more likely to happen than is doom, is provided by a special report of Business Week. Within two decades it sees a busy America of 200 million doing terrific business with 650 million rapidly advancing people in a world belt that takes in South America, Australia and the Near East. The plenty that America has learned to produce will spread by infection, and a bright new day will dawn for the numerous people whose historic problem has been scarcity. With it will come a better scale of living for all, and especially for the U.S. many of its present problems will be relieved. New world markets will keep the home wheels turning without fear of surplus. American capital will find needed opportunities abroad and one out of every four college graduates will find satisfying careers in foreign lands. Moreover, Americans will think nothing of flitting over to the North African Riveria or Montevideo or Sydney for a Christmas vacation.

If Business Week sees it clearly the U.S. has no need to worry over any slow-down when its defense tasks are finished. There are bigger days ahead in an upward surging world.

Tito Playing Military Trump In Trieste Game

WASHINGTON.—Worried State Department officials admit privately that the fuse is burning shorter on the Trieste powder keg.

The Army is pressing to declare martial law in order to prevent additional bloodshed. However, the State Department fears this move would only heighten the tension.

What has the State Department really worried, however, is that our Trieste policy has driven Yugoslavia back to the strict neutralism it followed immediately after Marshall Tito's break with Russia.

This will mean that Yugoslavia's rugged army cannot be tied into Western defense plans. Up to now, Gen. Al Gruenther, the supreme commander in Europe, has counted Tito's forces as part of the 80 divisions he has reported can be mustered to meet a Russian attack.

Meanwhile, British-American intelligence has uncovered 20 Soviet agents working inside the rioting student groups. On the other side, Moscow agents have also been discovered on the Trieste police force. Their orders from the Kremlin have been to use brutality against the students in order to keep the trouble boiling.

JAPAN DOESN'T WANT ARMS

Backstage conversations regarding the new Japanese army and navy make it quite clear that the Japanese government is not nearly as anxious to build up a defense force as the United States is to have it built.

In private conferences held in Japan, the Japanese government indicated it would like a navy of 300,000 tons, all small coastal craft; an army of 250,000 troops; and an air force of four wings, three to be F-84 fighter bombers and one to be F-86 jet intercepters.

The Pentagon agreed on the 300,000 naval tonnage, recommended a 300,000-man army and approved four air wings, except they should all be intercepters and no fighter-bombers. Specifically, the Air Force recommended 1,000 combat planes and 500 supporting planes, mostly trainers, for Japan.

However, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's special negotiator Hayato Ikeda, threw a bombshell into the talks by asking for only 200,000 naval tonnage and no air force at all. Instead he advocated a long-range goal of 300,000 to 400,000 troops.

The final decision will probably depend on what policy the Eisenhower administration adopts toward Red China.

H-BOMB DETERS WAR

Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation asked Premier Naguib of Egypt who he thought should get arts foundation prizes for service to humanity.

Naguib replied:

"The man who invents something which prevents war."

"Do you have any candidates?" asked Smith.

"Yes," replied Egypt's strong man. "The man who invented the H-Bomb."

REDUCED AIR FORCE

It's not that Eisenhower, an old army man, doesn't like the Air Force. He's just determined to balance the budget. At any rate it was he personally, and no one else, who blocked the Air Force from going to the 137 wings.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff had set 127 wings as the Air Force goal by July 1, 1956, but agreed to let Gen. Nat Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, go one step further and appeal to the White House for 137 wings. Ike vetoed the plea immediately. It would take money out of next year's budget, he said.

Tariff Split Faces Ike In New Congress

WASHINGTON — Of all the commissions and committees President Eisenhower has named to study this problem and that problem, none has a more troublesome assignment than the Commission on Trade Barriers and the Movement of Commerce in the Free World. The Republican party is split on the issue of protection versus lower tariffs and the split has explosive political significance.

Fortunately, the chairman of the Foreign Economic Study Group is Clarence B. Randall, one of America's ablest industrialists with a highly articulate philosophy of the relationship between government and business. With characteristic drive and energy, Randall is pushing the commission hard to get out a report by the first of the year. As he freely admits, he is playing the martinet in order to check long-winded discussion that could go on indefinitely.

After holding a series of brisk hearings here in Washington the chairman has taken his commission to Europe. The congressional members were somewhat startled at this development since they did not realize that the act creating the study group and authorizing its report empowered them to take a firsthand look at the European trade picture. But Randall pointed out that specific reference is made in the law to the necessity to study such institutions as the Schumann coal and steel pool and the European payments union.

To the surprise of some skeptics, Randall got several of the more reluctant of the congressional members of the commission to accompany him. One is Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Another is Rep. Dan Reed, the New York State Republican who as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee fought the administration on taxes at the last session.

But this is a minor victory in a skirmish that is not the major battle. Randall, a staunch believer in President Eisenhower's free-trade policy, has no illusions about the final outcome. He was told that almost as soon as the commission was named, Millikin and a third Republican member, Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania had begun to prepare a minority report. That minority report would oppose the view of Randall, which favors the scaling down of America's trade barriers.

Publicly, of course, Randall does not want to admit to the virtual certainty of a majority and a minority report. He talks of a reasonable compromise that will bring all members of the commission together.

In the past he has had some experience in getting opposites to agree on a middle position. As a member of Harvard University's Board of Overseers he headed a committee to consider charges of Communist teaching in certain departments. To the surprise of everyone Randall got agreement on a report on this controversial issue.

But, admittedly, the task now before him is a much tougher one. In the last session of Congress, Rep. Simpson pushed a bill that would have the effect of raising tariffs in many fields. The administration had to use all possible pressure to beat down this effort and get a continuation for a year of the reciprocal trade agreements act inherited from the past.

Today in many areas the drive to raise the barriers is much more acute. The United States Tariff Commission is holding hearings on the lead and zinc industry, with mine workers and mine owners from the West denouncing foreign competition that has shut down mines and brought economic mishap to many communities.

A majority report favoring constructive steps to free the channels of world trade would presumably be signed by Chairman Randall and the other public members of the commission, and by the Democrats from Congress joined by one or two Republicans. A minority report would be signed by Representatives Simpson and Reed, by Sen. Millikin and perhaps also by Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut.

But such a split coming just before the President would have to make his recommendations in the State-of-the-Union message in January would have its embarrassing side. In taking the majority view, the President would be going against the Republican chairmen of powerful committees with whom the White House must co-operate to get an administration program adopted.

For Randall, too, such a split would be embarrassing. He will shortly retire as head of the Inland Steel Corporation in Chicago. But at 62 he is full of energy and eager for a further career. Republicans have urged him to run for the Senate against Democratic Paul Douglas, up for re-election next year, and Randall is said to be tempted. But against the background of a split report alienating powerful figures in the GOP, Randall would not get off to a good start. So much as at stake in this issue for individuals as well as for the economy of the country.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Dog With A Five-O'clock Shadow

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

With such forebears such as "Irish Whiskey" and "Rackety Packety Kilamenskey," "Erin Boy" is sure to be a sucker for a fight. His Irish dander is frequently showing to any dog in the neighborhood.

This feisty but friendly canine owned by 13-year-old Audrey Grisinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grisinger of 1965 So. 50th, is the national dog of Ireland—well, his breed is, anyway—the Kerry Blue Terrier.

The Kerry Blue is rather a scarce item in the Midwest, but is a very popular dog on the west coast, especially California. The wavy-haired, silky-haired, blue-gray dog is 35 pounds in weight and stands 18 inches high, standard measurements for such a dog.

☆ ☆ ☆

The dog with the perennial five-oclock blue shadow arrived on the shores of America at the end of World War I. And in the late 1920's Mrs. William Randolph Hearst imported a brace of Kerry Blues and a former heavyweight champion, Gene Tunney, was also a Kerry Blue enthusiast.

One of the reasons for the dog's popularity is that it does not shed. "Bing" is a proud dog and independent, too. He prefers keeping hold of his own leash when out for a walk by grabbing part of it in his mouth. But when there is no leash, Mrs. Grisinger finds herself being propelled along by "Bing" who grabs the edge of her coat.

Despite a rousing rabbit chase recently which netted the canine only trouble for the Grisingers and his being clipped of matted weeds and hair, he still is a proud dog, walking with his tail perked up in the air, acting as the best of Lincoln's dogdom. He doesn't seem to mind at all the fact that his trim is not the standard trim for the Kerry Blue because of the rabbit chase.

"Bing" is not the only dog in the family. There is another, a boxer named "Bozo." The boxer is just a little too big for "Bing" to get feisty with, so the two are fast friends.

The scarce terrier, however, demands attention by pushing himself in front of the boxer at the feet of his family to prove that a rare animal such as he is hard to find and needs only the best of attention.

The Grisingers have big plans for "Bing" which include showing him in local shows and grooming him to the standard terrier trim as soon as possible. If he runs true to form, he will see to it that he is heard from. He takes second place for no one because he's a proud, proud Irishman, you know.

Of Mice And Elephants

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since 1791 anyone charged with high crimes against the laws of the United States has been guaranteed that a grand jury will bring forth those charges in the form of an indictment. The grand jury, made up of citizens of the community, has had a long and honorable history in the administration of justice. Now we are told by none less than some of our highest officials that the grand jury is not to be trusted, that anyone with common sense would know that a man is guilty even though a grand jury did not consider the evidence sufficient to charge a man with crime. In other words, if you don't agree with a judicial decision and want to believe a man guilty, then he is guilty, especially if you are a United States senator.

Are we losing sight of the honored principle that man is innocent until proved guilty through the courts of the land? Are we not forgetting that justice in America has been predicated on the fundamental that criminal charges and trials are the province of the judicial system, not the legislative? Is our knowledge of history so limited that we do not know of the era of abuses through sentence and punishment by legislative fiat? Or is the system of justice to be twisted to suit the fancy of those who may have the power to divert it?

We have managed to bring criminals to justice throughout our long history, through several wars and through periods of domestic unrest. During these perilous times we have observed and respected the principles of justice, so why should we now when we are a new high in strength find it necessary to disavow them?

Is the elephant afraid of the mouse?

Two-Price System

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: There is one important suggestion for changing the farm support program. This could have revolutionary results to the world's economy. If we could have a two-price system and trade our surpluses to foreign nations for goods that farmers could use, wonderful results should follow.

Money should not be involved in such a transfer and the farmers should receive these goods duty free and profit free. These results should then follow. It would bring full parity; it would prevent high government expense; it would solve the problem of distribution; it would do much to prevent starvation abroad; and it would solve the employment problem. Is anything that good worth striving for? If so, let's have this kind of a two-price system.

Back To The Fold

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Of all excuses that have been offered by the Republican apologists for the late debacle of their party in the Wisconsin, New Jersey, and New York elections just past, the Omaha World Herald daily gives the one which should take the prize for the height of absurd inconsistency. Its excuse is this:

The Republicans lost the elections in those states because the party did not carry out the promises made in the presidential canvass last year. That the voters were so disgusted with the New Deal, that they voted for Eisenhower and the Republican party that they might get relief from the bad policies of that New Deal. Then when the party enthroned in power failed to abolish the New Deal laws, the voters turned to the New Deal party for relief.

That is, the voters came back to the party which they desired to be rid of and accepted it and its principles because they believed it and them better than the Republican party principles and policies. This means that the voters were so disgusted with the Republican party that bad as the New Deal had been, it was much preferable to the policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Such conduct was a compliment to the voters who, seeing their mistake, hurried to make amends by rushing back to the arms of the Democratic party.

If the voters had been disgusted with both the New Deal and the Eisenhower administration, they would naturally have formed a new party to express their wishes but, no, they gracefully accepted the party which they knew would bring the relief from the vicious policies of the Republican party.

But if our central government does not distinguish between the real dangers of Communism and the hysterical fear of it, if our national leaders do not stand firm against panic, and against the invasion of individual freedoms, then we are in for some bad times."

Those words, particularly the closing words, need to be read and re-read. They utter a great truth of vital importance in this land of the free.

Rarely has there been a press conference in this country which has presented such a sorry picture as the one that took place in Washington Wednesday.

★

One of the newsmen asked the President if he felt Mr. Truman would knowingly appoint a Communist spy to office. Mr. Eisenhower replied that he did not—that such a thing was inconceivable to him. Still another, the representative of the New York Times, asked the President if—a grand jury having decided that there is insufficient evidence against a man to indict him—it is proper for the attorney general to accuse this man of being a spy and accuse a former President of harboring him. To which the President replied that he is neither a judge nor an accomplished lawyer—questions along that line should be addressed to Brownell.

All in all, a sad, depressing press conference which could not give to people living beyond the borders of the United States anything but a drab picture of this country.

Who is it that speaks for this administration? The President, it would seem, has sought to make amends for the actions of his attorney general and for congressional committee members. The time has come for him to crack down on those around him—to assert his own leadership—to insist that those he placed in responsible posts be responsible to him.

Where Regimentation Ends

A group speaking for the Hall County Farm Bureau Federation took out after Dr. Clyde Mitchell, chairman of the Agricultural Economics Department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Nebraska. It did not approve of an article—a very objective, moderate article — which Dr. Mitchell had written for a farm publication, Capper's Farmer. They did not like what Dr. Mitchell wrote, because it did not fit in with their views. They felt the Board of Regents should do something about it—just what, they left for speculation by the public.

We have known Dr. Mitchell ever since he became a member of the faculty of the University of Nebraska. He knows his field; he is an outstanding educator. Most Nebraskans who know anything about the magazine for which Dr. Mitchell wrote upon the request of the management itself know that the magazine was founded by the late Sen. Arthur Capper, a lifelong Republican, long active in Kansas Republican politics. Now, Dr. Mitchell's "offense," it appears was to speak kind words about the farm program that has taken shape in the last two decades — taken shape chiefly in a bipartisan atmosphere. Dr. Mitchell was critical of the proposed flexible price support program, long the darling of the Farm Bureau Federation leaders, long advocated by Sen. Aiken of Vermont, and apparently the direction in which Secretary of Agriculture Benson is moving.

So the Hall County group was critical of Dr. Mitchell.

And what is the basis of their criticism? They do not like "regimentation" out on the farm but when that is said, there must be some reservation. They have no qualms to regimentation whenever it comes to what somebody else differing from them may think.

Of Men And Things

A solid Republican party victory in California to fill a vacant seat in the lower house of Congress may go a long way toward restoring party confidence in the state of the nation politically. It was a sweet victory for the Republicans, sweetened by bitter adversity in earlier, isolated tests at the polls.

★

A Democratic organization which may have been blinded by dust, due to unexpected earlier successes, could conclude only in eyeing the returns that there is no substitute for effective, enthusiastic organization. The congressional district which gave the Republicans a badly needed victory to offset a series of disturbing reverses had been represented by a Republican, Los Angeles present Mayor Morris Paulson, who resigned his seat in order to run for mayor. It had been represented by a Republican since 1942. Republican fears grew out of the fact in an intra-party fight, two candidates were seeking the office, two popular men, vote-getters, and it was thought that the presence of two party candidates on the ballot would split the vote sufficiently to enable a young, energetic, appealing Democrat to win. That did not happen. The Republicans concentrated upon the winner, little short of a miracle in view of the circumstances, a political mirror reflecting the harder [illegible] of work.

No Substitute For Organization

It is a matter of record that California Republicans in this particular district did a better job than their Democratic brethren in getting out the vote—that they succeeded in persuading party followers to concentrate upon the man backed by the organization—and finally, that they turned back a Democratic bid for another seat in the House of Representatives when control of that body had become too thin for the peace of mind of the party in power. This was a "must" in the minds of party leaders—and they got the job done.

★

No one can say to what extent the unprecedented action of Attorney General Herbert Brownell influenced the results in California. Ordinarily people make up their minds well in advance of such eleventh-hour maneuvers as the one by the attorney general of the United States when he reached back into the dim past to revive the White case, whom he charged on the basis of FBI information with being a Russian spy, coddled and promoted by former President Harry Truman. It is a terrible accusation to make against any man who has served the American people in the office of their Chief Executive—an amazing charge—which may or may not have affected the California result.

What About The White Case?

★

The congressional elections of 1954 are ahead of us. For the time being, Republican party leadership can claim that when the chips were down in California, after the loss of five straight congressional tests in special elections, the party came through with a demonstration of continued confidence in the Eisenhower administration. The fight for control of congress in the 1954 off-year elections will be determined more by what develops during the intervening months than by what has taken place.

Bright Picture

America lives a life of contradictions. It reads in one column of the paper of the impending doom to civilization by atomic war. In gloom it starts to set its affairs in order for that final day. But in the next column it leans back with pleasure to read about the bigger, brighter-than-ever future awaiting all and not more than 20 years away.

The latest piece of good news, which human experience indicates is much more likely to happen than is doom, is provided by a special report of Business Week. Within two decades it sees a busy America of 200 million doing terrific business with 650 million rapidly advancing people in a world belt that takes in South America, Australia and the Near East. The plenty that America has learned to produce will spread by infection, and a bright new day will dawn for the numerous people whose historic problem has been scarcity. With it will come a better scale of living for all, and especially for the U.S. many of its present problems will be relieved. New world markets will keep the home wheels turning without fear of surplus. American capital will find needed opportunities abroad and one out of every four college graduates will find satisfying careers in foreign lands. Moreover, Americans will think nothing of flitting over to the North African Riveria or to Montevideo or Sydney for a Christmas vacation.

If Business Week sees it clearly the U.S. has no need to worry over any slow-down when its defense tasks are finished. There are bigger days ahead in an upward surging world.

Tito Playing Military Trump In Trieste Game

WASHINGTON.—Worried State Department officials admit privately that the fuse is burning shorter on the Trieste powder keg.

The Army is pressing to declare martial law in order to prevent additional bloodshed. However, the State Department fears this move would only heighten the tension.

What has the State Department really worried, however, is that our Trieste policy has driven Yugoslavia back to the strict neutralism it followed immediately after Marshall Tito's break with Russia.

This will mean that Yugoslavia's rugged army cannot be tied into Western defense plans. Up to now, Gen. Al Gruenther, the supreme commander in Europe, has counted Tito's forces as part of the 80 divisions he has reported can be mustered to meet a Russian attack.

Meanwhile, British-American intelligence has uncovered 20 Soviet agents working inside the rioting student groups. On the other side, Moscow agents have also been discovered on the Trieste police force. Their orders from the Kremlin have been to use brutality against the students in order to keep the trouble boiling.

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES

Russian mountain climbers will try to plant a bust of Lenin on top of Mt. Everest next year... the Army has quietly brought several high South Korean officers to this country—officially for "study," unofficial reason, however, is that Syngman Rhee was planning to purge them. The foxy old South Korean leader feared the officers were too sympathetic to the U.S., might not be loyal to him in case of a showdown...southeast Asia has become a hotbed of intrigue and espionage. The U.S. has sent its best agents to Thailand, the Russians are operating out of Burma and the Chinese Communists have set up spy headquarters in Indonesia...the cattlemen's caravan, which failed to persuade Secretary of Agriculture Benson to support cattle prices will take their case to the public — via television... Clarence Randall, who has been trying to sell low tariffs to his 17-man Foreign Economic Policy Commission, kept remarking during recent hearings that his imported Swiss watch kept better time than the clock on the hearing-room wall ... athletes from foreign countries will demonstrate their skills at an international sports exposition, to be held in Washington next spring during cherry blossom week... National Security Council will decide today whether to give up coaxing the aviation gas producers to expand their facilities. For several months, the government has been trying to persuade the private companies to increase their capacity for producing aviation gas. Now it looks as if the government will have to build the new plants itself.

JAPAN DOESN'T WANT ARMS

Backstage conversations regarding the new Japanese army and navy make it quite clear that the Japanese government is not nearly as anxious to build up a defense force as the United States is to have it built.

In private conferences held in Japan, the Japanese government indicated it would like a navy of 300,000 tons, all small coastal craft; an army of 250,000 troops; and an air force of four wings, three to be F-84 fighter bombers and one to be F-86 jet intercepters.

The Pentagon agreed on the 300,000 naval tonnage, recommended a 300,000-man army and approved four air wings, except they should all be intercepters and no fighter-bombers. Specifically, the Air Force recommended 1,000 combat planes and 500 supporting planes, mostly trainers, for Japan.

However, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's special negotiator Hayato Ikeda, threw a bombshell into the talks by asking for only 200,000 naval tonnage and no air force at all. Instead he advocated a long-range goal of 300,000 to 400,000 troops.

The final decision will probably depend on what policy the Eisenhower administration adopts toward Red China.

☆ ☆ ☆

H-BOMB DETERS WAR

Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation asked Premier Naguib of Egypt who he thought should get arts foundation prizes for service to humanity.

Naguib replied:

"The man who invents something which prevents war."

"Do you have any candidates?" asked Smith.

"Yes," replied Egypt's strong man. "The man who invented the H-Bomb."

REDUCED AIR FORCE

It's not that Eisenhower, an old army man, doesn't like the Air Force. He's just determined to balance the budget. At any rate it was he personally, and no one else, who blocked the Air Force from going to the 137 wings.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff had set 127 wings as the Air Force goal by July 1, 1956, but agreed to let Gen. Nat Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, go one step further and appeal to the White House for 137 wings. Ike vetoed the plea immediately. It would take money out of next year's budget, he said.

Tariff Split Faces Ike In New Congress

WASHINGTON — Of all the commissions and committees President Eisenhower has named to study this problem and that problem, none has a more troublesome assignment than the Commission on Trade Barriers and the Movement of Commerce in the Free World. The Republican party is split on the issue of protection versus lower tariffs and the split has explosive political significance.

Fortunately, the chairman of the Foreign Economic Study Group is Clarence B. Randall, one of America's ablest industrialists with a highly articulate philosophy of the relationship between government and business. With characteristic drive and energy, Randall is pushing the commission hard to get out a report by the first of the year. As he freely admits, he is playing the martinet in order to check long-winded discussion that could go on indefinitely.

After holding a series of brisk hearings here in Washington the chairman has taken his commission to Europe. The congressional members were somewhat startled at this development since they did not realize that the act creating the study group and authorizing its report empowered them to take a firsthand look at the European trade picture. But Randall pointed out that specific reference is made in the law to the necessity to study such institutions as the Schumann coal and steel pool and the European payments union.

To the surprise of some skeptics, Randall got several of the more reluctant of the congressional members of the commission to accompany him. One is Sen. Eugene Millikin (R-Colo), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Another is Rep. Dan Reed, the New York State Republican who as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee fought the administration on taxes at the last session.

But this is a minor victory in a skirmish that is not the major battle. Randall, a staunch believer in President Eisenhower's free-trade policy, has no illusions about the final outcome. He was told that almost as soon as the commission was named, Millikin and a third Republican member, Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania had begun to prepare a minority report. That minority report would oppose the view of Randall, which favors the scaling down of America's trade barriers.

Publicly, of course, Randall does not want to admit to the virtual certainty of a majority and a minority report. He talks of a reasonable compromise that will bring all members of the commission together.

In the past he has had some experience in getting opposites to agree on a middle position. As a member of Harvard University's Board of Overseers he headed a committee to consider charges of Communist teaching in certain departments. To the surprise of everyone Randall got agreement on a report on this controversial issue.

But, admittedly, the task now before him is a much tougher one. In the last session of Congress, Rep. Simpson pushed a bill that would have the effect of raising tariffs in many fields. The administration had to use all possible pressure to beat down this effort and get a continuation for a year of the reciprocal trade agreements act inherited from the past.

Today in many areas the drive to raise the barriers is much more acute. The United States Tariff Commission is holding hearings on the lead and zinc industry, with mine workers and mine owners from the West denouncing foreign competition that has shut down mines and brought economic mishap to many communities.

A majority report favoring constructive steps to free the channels of world trade would presumably be signed by Chairman Randall and the other public members of the commission, and by the Democrats from Congress joined by one or two Republicans. A minority report would be signed by Representatives Simpson and Reed, by Sen. Millikin and perhaps also by Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut.

But such a split coming just before the President would have to make his recommendations in the State-of-the-Union message in January would have its embarrassing side. In taking the majority view, the President would be going against the Republican chairmen of powerful committees with whom the White House must co-operate to get an administration program adopted.

For Randall, too, such a split would be embarrassing. He will shortly retire as head of the Inland Steel Corporation in Chicago. But at 62 he is full of energy and eager for a further career. Republicans have urged him to run for the Senate against Democratic Paul Douglas, up for re-election next year, and Randall is said to be tempted. But against the background of a split report alienating powerful figures in the GOP, Randall would not get off to a good start. So much as at stake in this issue for individuals as well as for the economy of the country.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Dog With A Five-O'clock Shadow

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

With such forebears such as "Irish Whiskey" and "Rackety Packety Kilamenskey," "Erin Boy" is sure to be a sucker for a fight. His Irish dander is frequently showing to any dog in the neighborhood.

This feisty but friendly canine owned by 13-year-old Audrey Grisinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grisinger of 1965 So. 50th, is the national dog of Ireland—well, his breed is, anyway—the Kerry Blue Terrier.

The Kerry Blue is rather a scarce item in the Midwest, but is a very popular dog on the west coast, especially California. The wavy-haired, silky-haired, blue-gray dog is 35 pounds in weight and stands 18 inches high, standard measurements for such a dog.

☆ ☆ ☆

The dog with the perennial five-oclock blue shadow arrived on the shores of America at the end of World War I. And in the late 1920's Mrs. William Randolph Hearst imported a brace of Kerry Blues and a former heavyweight champion, Gene Tunney, was also a Kerry Blue enthusiast.

One of the reasons for the dog's popularity is that it does not shed. "Bing" is a proud dog and independent, too. He prefers keeping hold of his own leash when out for a walk by grabbing part of it in his mouth. But when there is no leash, Mrs. Grisinger finds herself being propelled along by "Bing" who grabs the edge of her coat.

Despite a rousing rabbit chase recently which netted the canine only trouble for the Grisingers and his being clipped of matted weeds and hair, he still is a proud dog, walking with his tail perked up in the air, acting as the best of Lincoln's dogdom. He doesn't seem to mind at all the fact that his trim is not the standard trim for the Kerry Blue because of the rabbit chase.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Bing" is not the only dog in the family. There is another, a boxer named "Bozo." The boxer is just a little too big for "Bing" to get feisty with, so the two are fast friends.

The scarce terrier, however, demands attention by pushing himself in front of the boxer at the feet of his family to prove that a rare animal such as he is hard to find and needs only the best of attention.

The Grisingers have big plans for "Bing" which include showing him in local shows and grooming him to the standard terrier trim as soon as possible. If he runs true to form, he will see to it that he is heard from. He takes second place for no one because he's a proud, proud Irishman, you know.

Of Mice And Elephants

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Since 1791 anyone charged with high crimes against the laws of the United States has been guaranteed that a grand jury will bring forth those charges in the form of an indictment. The grand jury, made up of citizens of the community, has had a long and honorable history in the administration of justice. Now we are told by none less than some of our highest officials that the grand jury is not to be trusted, that anyone with common sense would know that a man is guilty even though a grand jury did not consider the evidence sufficient to charge a man with crime. In other words, if you don't agree with a judicial decision and want to believe a man guilty, then he is guilty, especially if you are a United States senator.

Are we losing sight of the honored principle that man is innocent until proved guilty through the courts of the land? Are we not forgetting that justice in America has been predicated on the fundamental that criminal charges and trials are the province of the judicial system, not the legislative? Is our knowledge of history so limited that we do not know of the era of abuses through sentence and punishment by legislative fiat? Or is the system of justice to be twisted to suit the fancy of those who may have the power to divert it?

We have managed to bring criminals to justice throughout our long history, through several wars and through periods of domestic unrest. During these perilous times we have observed and respected the principles of justice, so why should we now when we are a new high in strength find it necessary to disavow them?

Is the elephant afraid of the mouse?

Two-Price System

Curtis, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There is one important suggestion for changing the farm support program. This could have revolutionary results to the world's economy. If we could have a two-price system and trade our surpluses to foreign nations for goods that farmers could use, wonderful results should follow.

Money should not be involved in such a transfer and the farmers should receive these goods duty free and profit free. These results should then follow. It would bring full parity; it would prevent high government expense; it would solve the problem of distribution; it would do much to prevent starvation abroad; and it would solve the employment problem. Is anything that good worth striving for? If so, let's have this kind of a two-price system.

Back To The Fold

Riverton, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Of all excuses that have been offered by the Republican apologists for the late debacle of their party in the Wisconsin, New Jersey, and New York elections just past, the Omaha World Herald daily gives the one which should take the prize for the height of absurd inconsistency. Its excuse is this:

The Republicans lost the elections in those states because the party did not carry out the promises made in the presidential canvass last year. That the voters were so disgusted with the New Deal, that they voted for Eisenhower and the Republican party that they might get relief from the bad policies of that New Deal. Then when the party enthroned in power failed to abolish the New Deal laws, the voters turned to the New Deal party for relief.

That is, the voters came back to the party which they desired to be rid of and accepted it and its principles because they believed it and them better than the Republican party principles and policies. This means that the voters were so disgusted with the Republican party that bad as the New Deal had been, it was much preferable to the policies of the Eisenhower administration.

Such conduct was a compliment to the voters who, seeing their mistake, hurried to make amends by rushing back to the arms of the Democratic party.

If the voters had been disgusted with both the New Deal and the Eisenhower administration, they would naturally have formed a new party to express their wishes but, no, they gracefully accepted the party which they knew would bring the relief from the vicious policies of the Republican party.

Douglas County Tax Defendants Meet

OMAHA (AP) — A conference was held here Wednesday among defendants in the suit challenging the Douglas County equalization board real estate valuation increases.

Participating were representatives of the state, city, county and school representatives.

Attorney Max Fromkin has filed a suit contending the county equalization board acted without authority in raising Douglas County real estate valuations July 7. He charged in his brief that the deadline for changing valuations had expired and that no notice was given property owners. The suit contends that all Douglas County real estate is illegally assessed.

August Ross, of the tax foreclosure department, said the county defense will be that the county equalization board, which can sit for 40 days under the statutes, did not act after the deadline.

The county will argue that the board adjourned from day to day and consecutive time from the first to the last meetings should not be considered.

Other governmental units which would be affected by the suit will emphasize that final valuations were set by the State Equalization Board; therefore if the Supreme Court held Douglas County acted without authority it would be immaterial since the state saw fit to increase valuations anyway.

Douglas County can't use this argument since it has another suit in the Supreme Court attacking the State Equalization Board valuation increases.

Ross said the Douglas County answer will be filed in Lincoln before the end of the week.

This year in Nebraska there were nearly 5,000 of these local leaders at hand for consultation and encouragement when the club members planned their programs for the year. These leaders regularly attended the club meetings, visited the homes of members to see how their demonstrations are progressing, and accompanied their club members when they attended 4-H events outside the community.

State-wide activities are the concern of the state club staff members with Wesley H. Antes in charge. State extension specialists prepare subject matter circulars, assist in training local leaders, and put on special demonstrations in their particular fields.

Young Resists Demands For Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Phillip Young, replied to demands by Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) that he resign.

Miller, chairman of the House Interior Committee, demanded the resignation on grounds that Young is blocking Eisenhower administration efforts to put its own men in key federal jobs.

Young, talking with newsmen, gave no indication of yielding to Miller's demand. He is a Republican.

"I feel perfectly satisfied," Young said, "that the Civil Service Commission has followed a middle-of-the-road policy in respect to placing key jobs under the administration's control.

"The very fact that some people have criticized us for going too far and placing too many of those jobs in the political schedule C, and others like Mr. Miller complain that we haven't placed enough of these jobs, indicates that we are doing a reasonably fair job in this regard."

North Platte Man Worked Hard, Finally Talked To King For His 'Greatest Thrill'

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Pete D. Arris of North Platte had to work for it, but he has just had what he calls the "greatest thrill in the 41 years since I came to America."

This is how it happened:

Arris was born in Greece.

So when the King and Queen of Greece passed through Nebraska by train this week, Arris wanted to meet the royal couple.

In fact, Arris was determined to meet the pair.

Arris was at the station here when the train carrying the royal party stopped at 6:35 a.m. Monday. But the King and Queen didn't make an appearance during the 15 minute stop.

Arris knew the next stop was at Sidney so he drove there, beating the train. Again the couple stayed aboard the train.

Arris knew that an appearance was scheduled at Cheyenne, Wyo., so he drove to Cheyenne and there he "made the grade."

Arris got upon the train platform, shook hands with the king and talked to him in Greek for three or four minuttes.

"He was very friendly, with a strong, warm voice," Arris said.

Douglas County Tax Defendants Meet

OMAHA (AP) — A conference was held here Wednesday among defendants in the suit challenging the Douglas County equalization board real estate valuation increases.

Participating were representatives of the state, city, county and school representatives.

Douglas County can't use this argument since it has another suit in the Supreme Court attacking the State Equalization Board valuation increases.

Ross said the Douglas County answer will be filed in Lincoln before the end of the week.

Services, Grid Games Mark Armistice Day

Ceremonies Abandoned At Places

By the Associated Press

Traditional ceremonies and football games Wednesday marked Armistice Day in those towns in Nebraska where the day was treated as a holiday.

Some communities gave the day only passing attention and several abandoned their usual observances altogether.

Business places in some towns closed up for the day. But in others there was business as usual.

In a ceremony at McCook College, the Silver Star award for gallantry in action was awarded posthumously to Pfc. Robert Roth of McCook.

A member of the McCook College graduating class of 1951, Roth was killed in Korea May 30, 1953. He was honored for protecting his companions with a machine gun during a rush by the enemy. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Roth of McCook. His family presented a flag to McCook College.

Potter Observes Day

In western Nebraska's Cheyenne County, the only formal observance was in Potter. Other communities in the county, discouraged by small turnouts in late years, simply gave up the idea for this year.

The day marking the end of hostilities in World War I—the "war to end war"—apparently is seen in a different light by a generation which since has seen the end of World War II and currently is living in the midst of a truce in still another—the Korean war.

The York Armistice Day celebration was held without its scheduled speaker.

Miltonberger Grounded

Maj. Gen. Butler B. Miltonberger (Ret.) was unable to leave North Platte as he had planned because of flying conditions.

In his place Harry Dahlgren of York, a National Guard major who had served with Miltonberger, spoke at the observance.

In Omaha, the Nebraska American Legion auxiliary made the rounds of patients at the Omaha Veterans Hospital with gifts of silver dollars. The gifts were made possible through the annual Poppy Day sale. Half the proceeds of the sale go for veteran rehabilitation.

The big event in Holdrege was the "Corn Bowl" football game between two undefeated six-man teams, Huntley, 'Tween Valley Conference champ, and Sumner, winner in the Wood River Valley Conference.

Several football games were booked around the state.

At Ogallala, the Ogallala and Imperial high school teams were paired.

Barbecue At Paxton

A noon barbecue and an evening dance were sponsored by the American Legion post at Paxton.

The American Legion at Arthur also held a dance, preceded by a supper.

Nebraska City had its "Apple Bowl" festivities with six-man football teams from Elmwood and Sterling matched in the gridiron attraction. Crowning of a beauty queen was another feature.

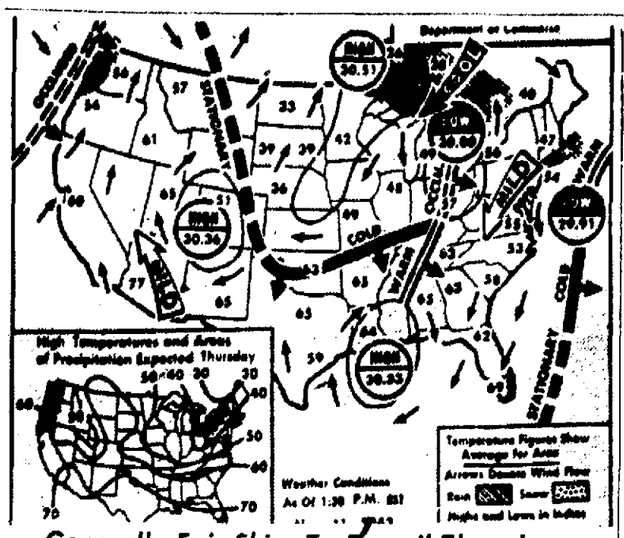

Grand Island stores did business as usual and City Hall offices remained open.

In contrast, at North Platte, city, county and federal offices were closed, along with banks and most business houses.

Beatrice had a street corner observance sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Rev. Walter L. Jewett, Centenary Methodist Church pastor, was the speaker.

North Platte's city public schools were closed but rural schools in Lincoln County remained open.

Elsie and Dalton met on the Dalton gridiron for the Oregon Trail championship. Sidney went to Kimball for an Armistice Day tilt.

Generally Fair Skies To Prevail Thursday

Generally fair weather will prevail over the country Thursday, except for cloudy skies and occasional rain along Florida's east coast and along the north Pacific coast. Also some rain or snow is likely in the areas bordering Lakes Erie and Ontario. Temperatures will take a downward trend over the northeastern quarter of the country with somewhat warmer weather in the northern Plains and the upper Mississippi valley. Buffalo Assessor To Take Nebraska Tax Aid Position

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Buffalo County Assessor Wilber Houtchens said Tuesday he will resign his post to become assistant state tax commissioner.

W. Houtchens

Houtchens came to Kearney from Culbertson to attend Kearney State Teachers College. He had been employed in the county clerk's office since 1940 with the exception of four years military service in World War II.

He is now serving his third term as president of the North Central Nebraska County Assessors Association.

Phillips Elected State President County Attorneys

OMAHA (AP)—Clifford Phillips of Red Cloud Wednesday was elected president of the Nebraska County Attorneys Association.

He succeeds Fred Kiechel of Auburn who becomes a member of the executive committee.

Elected first vice president was Ernest M. Johnson of Chadron. Raymond Morrissey of Tecumseh was named second vice president; Eugene Fitzgerald, Omaha, secretary, and Richard E. Hunter, Hastings, treasurer.

Pair Arrested As Robbery Suspects

OMAHA (AP)—Two persons were held for investigation Wednesday after officers said the pair admitted the assault-robbery of a Sioux City, Ia., man Tuesday night.

The two were identified as Johnnie Boston, 17, and Luther Montgomery, 25, both of Omaha.

George Thompson, 43, of Sioux City, said he had just taken a date home when he was attacked and robbed of $99 by two men.

Detective Capt. Brown said the two men arrested first claimed they had won the $93 found in their possession in a dice game, but later they signed statements admitting the theft.

Nebraskans Are Named Real Estate Officers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four organizations affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards, meeting in annual convention, elected officers Wednesday.

Two Nebraskans were named to office. Erwin W. Luedtke of Lincoln was named secretary of the States Council of the NARED; and Hal Easton of Omaha was named a regional vice president of the Institute of Real Estate Management.

Bankers Name North Platte Man As President

OMAHA (AP)—W. H. Munger, president of the First National Bank of North Platte was elected president of the Nebraska Bankers Association Wednesday.

He succeeds W. F. Wenke, who is president and cashier of the Pender State Bank.

Other new officers named: J. V. Johnson Sr., president of the Johnson County Bank, Tecumseh, vice president; and John R. Lauritzen, a vice president of the First National Bank, Omaha, treasurer.

Carl G. Swanson, secretary since 1946, tendered his resignation to the executive council only a few hours after he had been re-elected. Swanson said his future plans are indefinite.

Prior to his appointment as secretary Jan. 1, 1946, Swanson was state treasurer. He had been clerk of Hamilton County for eight years and for 17 years was a member of the staff of an Aurora, Neb., bank.

New members of the executive council are: Henry V. Jelinek, Wilber; Bernard M. De Lay, Norfolk; J. V. O'Donnell, Lexington; and B. D. Berkheimer, Gordon.

In a resolution the association recommended that "legislation be enacted by Congress to put all corporations, associations, cooperatives and other business organizations on a fair and impartial tax basis."

The bankers were told by their national president earlier in the convention that if they want to keep the federal government out of the lending field, the way to do it is to make government lending unnecessary.

Everett D. Rease, president of the Park National Bank of Newark, O., told the Association that bankers must accept risks as part of their business or face a real clamor for more government credit and guaranties.

The ABA head said he is not predicting a recession in the foreseeable future but "the basis is already laid for the re-entry of the government into the lending field under the popular flag of small business, however; and we cannot be indifferent to the implications of this action."

He urged bankers to learn more about small business, its problems and needs and to serve small businesses constructively and resourcefully.

Also on hand to address the meeting was Robert L. Garner, vice president and general manager of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

California Win Brings A Smile To Ike, Buoys Republican Hopes

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower hailed the Republican victory in California with a smile of pleasure Wednesday while GOP chieftains took new heart after the gloom of recent Democratic triumphs at the polls.

The Republican National Committee promptly termed the outcome "an endorsement of the Eisenhower administration and a good omen for 1954."

Democrats challenged any idea of attaching national significance to the California results in relation to next year's all-important congressional elections.

At his news conference, Eisenhower volunteered an expression of pleasure at the GOP victory without waiting for newsmen to ask him about it.

219 Republicans

With a smile, the President recalled that last week he had to say he wasn't entirely happy about the Republican defeats in New Jersey and New York.

Final results in the California election—in the 24th District embracing sections of Los Angeles and Pasadena—showed Republican Glenard P. Lipscomb defeated Democrat George Arnold, 42,880 to 34,545.

The district has 81,691 registered Democrats against 75,289 Republicans.

Lipscomb's victory makes the House lineup: Republicans 219, Democrats 215, Independent 1.

'Win a Miracle'

More than anything else, the California result buoyed Republican hopes which had plummeted badly after upset Democratic wins in Wisconsin and New Jersey in recent elections.

Sen. Ellender (D-La) said Wednesday a Democratic victory in California "would have been a miracle."

Ellender said the issues in California were different than they were in other states where the Democrats rolled up their recent successes, and he declared:

"It takes work, not headline hunting, to fulfill campaign promises. Unless the Republicans wake up and do something, their stock will go lower and lower."

It was not immediately clear whether the uproar over the Harry Dexter White "Russian Spy" case was a major factor in Tuesday's California voting.

Both Saw Statements

Lipscomb had issued an eleventh-hour statement saying he was "seriously concerned" over the episode, while Arnold said Atty. Gen. Brownell's action in reporting the White case showed Brownell's "true colors as a Republican political boss attempting to interfere in the election."

Brownell touched off the furore by declaring that former President Truman promoted White despite two FBI warnings that White was a spy for Soviet Russia.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) said he believes the Democrats should conduct a survey of the California district to find out whether Brownell's charges had any effect on the outcome.

Lipscomb himself called his victory a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration.

He had pegged his campaign to that issue, and also called for lower taxes, an intensified battle against subversives, and support of Eisenhower's foreign policy.

California Win Brings A Smile To Ike, Buoys Republican Hopes

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower hailed the Republican victory in California with a smile of pleasure Wednesday while GOP chieftains took new heart after the gloom of recent Democratic triumphs at the polls.

The Republican National Committee promptly termed the outcome "an endorsement of the Eisenhower administration and a good omen for 1954."

Democrats challenged any idea of attaching national significance to the California results in relation to next year's all-important congressional elections.

At his news conference, Eisenhower volunteered an expression of pleasure at the GOP victory without waiting for newsmen to ask him about it.

219 Republicans

With a smile, the President recalled that last week he had to say he wasn't entirely happy about the Republican defeats in New Jersey and New York.

Final results in the California election—in the 24th District embracing sections of Los Angeles and Pasadena—showed Republican Glenard P. Lipscomb defeated Democrat George Arnold, 42,880 to 34,545.

The district has 81,691 registered Democrats against 75,289 Republicans.

Lipscomb's victory makes the House lineup: Republicans 219, Democrats 215, Independent 1.

'Win a Miracle'

More than anything else, the California result buoyed Republican hopes which had plummeted badly after upset Democratic wins in Wisconsin and New Jersey in recent elections.

'Startling' Tax Plan May Deal With Enforcement

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

What plan for raising of tax money to support government in the state will Gov. Robert Crosby unveil at his Nov. 20 meeting of leaders of 40 statewide organization?

This question has been the subject of the widest speculation since he made his announcement of the meeting on Monday. Whatever "wishful thinking" those discussing it might do, they invariably run up against the carefully worded statement of the governor.

"It will be something different —something the like of which Nebraska has never seen before."

This generally rules out of the speculation proposals that have been made for a special session of the legislature or enactment of a sales tax. Both of these are familiar to Nebraskans.

Probably the most generally accepted speculation is that the example set by the governor, "obey the laws of the state," is the crux of his thinking and that he has a plan for enforcement. During the uproar over actions of the state board of equalization, the governor frequently referred to the constitutional provision.

"Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises."

Reports of the tax commissioner prove to even the most naive that this provision has never been carried out. The Legislature has placed the responsibility for reporting valuations on the individual taxpayer and many become "absent minded" as to their possessions on March 10.

The result has been precincts where nobody has a clock or rural precincts without the protection of a dog. Ownership of personal property being the most difficult to prove, it has become the flagrant method of "dodging taxes."

The assessment schedules are submitted under oath as to their accuracy yet no prosecutions have followed when all property was not listed. Weeks ago the governor said that he was considering making "examples" of flagrant violators.

Is this part of his program? This question is being asked by many.

During depression years there was a "Lost billion" dollars in assessed valuation which never came back on the tax rolls until the state board of equalization acted this year. It came back largely on real property which could not be "concealed."

Assessing and equalizing between individuals is conducted on the county level. There it has been custom to "make their own laws" with the assessments ranging from about 18 to 90 percent of actual value depending on local views.

Will the "course of action" which Gov. Crosby announced he has decided upon provide a plan to force county officials to get actual valuations from everyone so that all regardless of place of residence will pay their "proportionate" share of government expense? Some speculate that he will ask support in such an undertaking.

4-H Group Told Sacrifices Necessary

The youth of today needs to be directed to get rid of the feeling of confusion and bewilderment, Dale Johnson, University of Nebraska senior speech student, said at the 10th annual recognition banquet for Lancaster County 4-H leaders Wednesday night.

"What we want to accomplish," he said, "is a contribution to the individual and to the community as whole."

A leader, he said, must have the attitude of sacrifice to do the job set out for him A leader, he said, must also have a sense of responsibility for leading young people.

A leader must also be willing to take the sidelines and let the young persons center their attention, not on him, but on the goals toward which they are working, Johnson said

More than 300 persons attended the banquet sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Dorothy Buess of Bennet, leader of the Cornhusker Lassies 4-H Club, for the last 25 years, received an emerald-set club pin in recognition for her years of service Leaders who have been in 4-H work for five or 10 years were also honored.

Lodge Discloses New Cases Of Red Atrocities

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge disclosed Wednesday shocking new cases of Red atrocities in Korea and challenged Russia's Andrei Vishinsky to "laugh off" the new evidence.

Lodge reported that Chinese Communists slaughtered 12 wounded prisoners in April, 1951, at the village of Yonchon in North Korea.

He said two of the murdered POW's were Americans, seven were Turkish and the others South Koreans. He said the atrocity was attested to by one of the Chinese participants after he was captured by U.N. forces.

The American diplomat gave out the reports at a luncheon with members of the U.N. Correspondents' Association. Lodge said he had planned to lay the reports before the General Assembly Wednesday when it voted 53 to five to air the Communist atrocities.

Filibuster Feared

He explained that he had not pressed the matter at the request of Assembly President Madame V. L. Pandit of India because she feared that Vishinsky, who had to be called to order twice during debate on the atrocities item, would launch an endless filibuster against the item.

Referring to Vishinsky's claim that the murder and torture of 6,113 Americans and thousands of Koreans was "slander," Lodge stated:

"Is it slander that elements of the 578th Regiment, 193rd Division 65th Chinese Community Army, on or about April 22, 1951, in Yonchon, North Korea, on the order of their company commander, summarily murdered twelve wounded prisoners?

"That these twelve were buried under Chinese direction by the villagers of Yonchon; and that these facts were attested by one of the Chinese participants in the murder after he was captured by United Nations forces?

'Fairy Tale?'

"I ask (Vishinsky) whether it is fairy tale that on June 28, 1950, three days after the aggression was launched, some 150 wounded soldiers of the Republic of Korea Army were murdered in their beds in Seoul University Hospital by the Communist invaders of the city, and their bodies buried behind the hospital.

"That a North Korean colonel, a regimental commander, was present when this was done and the order to commit this mass murder was given by his chief of staff; that nine members of the so-called Korean Labor Party—otherwise known as the Communist Party—were present at this murder by order of the local party headquarters.

"That one North Korean Army officer was heard to say in explanation of this act, 'These guys are enemies of comrades, so comrades, let's kill them.'

"I ask him whether it is a fairy tale that on April 23, 1951, at the junction of the Han Gang and Imjim Rivers, Chinese Communist forces captured seven British soldiers of the First Battalion, Royal Ulster Rifles, and six members of the Belgian Battalion; that about three hours after this capture a Chinese soldier fired a burp gun into this group of prisoners, all of whom were disarmed and none of whom had attempted to escape.

"That at least one British officer, two British soldiers, and six Belgian soldiers were killed."

Mitchell: Controversial Story 'Speaks For Itself'

Dr. Clyde C. Mitchell of the College of Agriculture said Wednesday he preferred to let an article of his, which had drawn sharp fire from a Farm Bureau group, "speak for itself."

The article, which appeared in the November Capper's Farmer magazine, voiced approval for high farm price supports. It will be the subject of a meeting between a committee of the Hall County Farm Bureau and a member of the University Board of Regents in Grand Island Thursday. The committee will talk with Dr. Earle G. Johnson of Grand Island in a meeting requested by the farm group.

Dr. Johnson said that he was withholding any comment until after the meeting with the Farm Bureau people today.

Members of the Farm Bureau group had previously announced that they were opposed to the views expressed in the article.

The president of the Hall County Farm Bureau, Earl Glenn of Alda, said Wednesday "The way things stand now the committee will not try to have a meeting with the Regents as a whole. We just want to call to the attention of the Regents the way we feel in this."

Pressure Possible

Glenn added that he "couldn't say" whether the committee will apply pressure on the part of the Farm Bureau to seek Mitchell's release from the University.

In Omaha, J. Leroy Welch, a University regent, said Wednesday that while he could not speak for the board of regents, as for himself, "I am glad to have a group like these farmers pay attention to this sort of activity and call attention to it."

He added that "I have no brief for anyone in a tax supported institution who favors the destruction of the free enterprise system. No member at the University has any right or authority to advocate the destruction of this system. Several times I have complained about the writings and speeches of this individual made over the state and have brought this to the attention of the university."

He added that no action by the University has been indicated in regard to his complaints.

In his disputed article, Mitchell wrote:

"During the '30's farm leaders and Congress forged the realistic laws that help agriculture maintain its place in our economy—an economy that is both free and not free. Despite all the talk about free enterprise, much of the non-agricultural economy is not free. For that reason, agriculture demands, and receives, help from government so that it can compete with industry and labor."

"Certainly no one is seriously proposing that business and industry abolish the subsidies hidden in trademarks, patents, tariffs, labor unions, trade associations, price-fixing agreements, or tax-write-offs."

'Solid Basis'

In discussing price supports, he said: "Crop loans and associated production restrictions have placed farmers on more even terms with America's industrial economy. Farmers like fixed supports because they provide a solid basis for planning."

In the article he said that farmers did not feel regimented by price supports because "freedoms they enjoy under production controls—a good price—is more valuable than the supposed freedoms they might have under an unsupported program."

Referring to flexible price supports, he wrote: "No one has yet proven that farmers will make the economic response to price flexing. There is good evidence that most farmers will not." Most farmers he said, have fixed costs and specialized equipment which would force them to continue producing even though the price is falling.

C. Y. Thompson of West Point, a member of the board of regents, said that he "didn't know enough about the issue to comment." J. G. Elliott of Scottsbluff expressed a similar view.

Acting Chancellor John K. Selleck was out of town and not available for comment Wednesday.

Dr. B. N. Greenberg, York, said that he did not have enough of the facts to comment on the case at this time.

The other members of the board of regents were not available for comment.

Israel Protests

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—Israel complained to the Mixed Armistice Commission that Syrian troops fired Wednesday on an Israeli patrol boat in the sea of Galilee. An Israeli spokesman said the boat returned the fire and that the shooting lasted about 15 minutes. No casualties were reported.

School Group Plans Program

The College View Parent-Teacher-Student Association will hold a "back to school" program Thursday evening in the high school auditorium when the parents will participate with the students in a daily class schedule.

Mrs. Edwin Wahl will preside, and a program of music will be given by a flute trio including Leah Cheuvront, Judy Humann and Sharon Rogers. In charge of refreshments will be Mrs. Glayne Doolittle, Mrs. Marvin Hester, Mrs. A. A. Cook and Mrs. Wendell Klepinger.

Women's Council Hears Program

A program of readings and poetry was presented by a group of senior women at Nebraska Wesleyan University, directed by Miss Ethel Booth, at the regular meeting of the Women's Wesleyan Educational Council, Tuesday afternoon.

Songs by the Wesleyan girls' glee club, directed by Miss Mary Louise Holding, were followed by a short business meeting at which Mrs. Cora Garvey presided. The devotional service was conducted by Mrs. Jessie McKenzie, and hostess for the tea was Mrs. Ellis Hartsook.

A Bit Confusing

GUESS WHAT! Received a communique in the mail last evening— It was addressed properly—name, business and such things— Turned it over and found a blank to go down on the dotted line for a football banquet on Monday evening, Nov. 23—and just as we were thinking that it might be fun, we looked inside—"Stag Dinner" it said. A little confusing to say the least.

BUT THERE'S nothing confusing about the news we have from Beirut, Lebanon.

It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cunningham (he is in the State department) most recently were transferred to Lebanon from Teheran, Iran, where Mr. Cunningham was special assistant to the American ambassador. When the word was passed around that the Cunninghams were leaving Teheran a dinner invitation was extended to them by the Shah of Iran and his lovely queen. Naturally the Cunninghams accepted and dined with the Shah, the queen, and with all the princes of royal blood, and had a most delightful time.

Delightful, also; are the comments from the Joseph Cunninghams—

"The Queen," says Mr. Cunningham, "is exceptionally beautiful."

"The Shah," says Mrs. Cunningham, "is an exceptionally fine dancer."

SO BACK to Lincoln — and some news on week-end game guests—Just heard that Mr. and Mrs. S. Nelson Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson will be arriving from Denver on Friday evening to be the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will entertain their guests at the Lincoln Country club's post-game dinner dance Saturday evening—and on Sunday the guests will leave—Mr. and Mrs. Hicks for their home in Denver—and Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson for New York City.

WONDERED how the project undertaken by the women of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal, turned out—and learned that it was most successful — We mentioned last week that Capt. Donald Bull, now in Korea, had written Mrs. Bull that his regiment had plans for Operation Christmas for the children in Korea—The letter was the inspiration for the gathering of toys and children's clothing by the women of Holy Trinity, who took their bundles to the coffee at the home of Mrs. Stanley Maly — Altogether there were 107 pounds and we hear that there were 20 dolls that will delight some of the little girls in Korea—good shoes, and good, warm clothing.

A BIT of news from Detroit, Mich., came our way this morning—It has to do with the arrival of Thomas Grover Haring on Tuesday, Oct. 27. The new arrival's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Norris Haring of Detroit, and his mother is the former Dorothy Borgens, daughter of Mrs. Mary Borgens of Lincoln and Alpha Chi Omega and Mortar Board at the University of Nebraska. Mr. Haring also attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of Kappa Si[illegible]

* * *

HAVE JUST[illegible]me enough to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Chesen (Doris Schimmel) and their small daughter, Catherine Sue, will be arriving in Lincoln about Dec. 1—and will remain here until after the holidays.

Pi Phi Mothers Hold Program

The Pi Beta Phi Mothers Club met for a 1 o'clock salad luncheon Tuesday at the chapter house. The luncheon was followed by a program of readings given by Mrs. Gordon Bryant of Tekamah.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. C. A. McCoy, Mrs. M. E. Reinecke and Mrs. E. M. Hunt.

To Wed In December

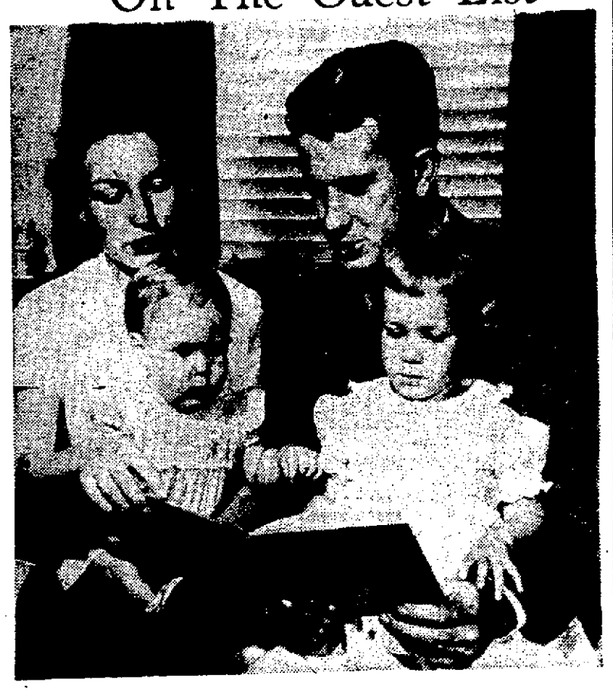

MORINE THORNE DILLON

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thorne Dillon announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Morine Thorne Dillon, to John A. Toothaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive A. Toothaker of Veronia, Ore., formerly of Lincoln.

The wedding will take place on Friday evening, Dec. 11, at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of only members of the families. The 7 o'clock ceremony will be followed by a reception for friends, also at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dillon.

On The Guest List

On Lincoln's guest list this week are Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Tincher and their two daughters, Nancy Lynn (left) and Sharon Sue, of Tulsa, Okla., who are the house guests of Mr. Tincher's mother, Mrs. R. E. Tincher, and his sister, Miss Thelma Tincher.

Mr. and Mrs. Tincher and their daughters will leave on Friday to return to their home.

Has Morning Wedding

MRS. ALVIN CZESCHIN

The chancel of St. Teresa Catholic Church was appointed with tall arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums for the marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Kreifels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kreifels, and Alvin H. Czeschin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Czeschin of Avoca, which was solemnized Saturday morning, Nov. 7. The 9:30 o'clock service was read by the Rev. Daniel Pohl.

As the wedding guests assembled, Mrs. George Francois of Nebraska City sang accompanied by the church organist, who also played the wedding music.

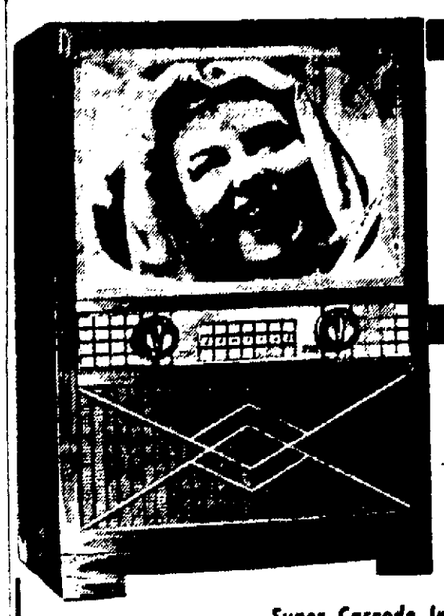

Mrs. Robert Schreiter of Nebraska City was her sister's matron of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Marilyn Kreifels of Nebraska City, cousin of the bride, The honor attendant, in blue, and Miss Kreifels, wearing the melon tone, were frocked alike in net over taffeta. Jackets of embroidered net accented their fitted bodices and full skirts, and their bouquets were fashioned of white pompon chrysanthemums. Miss Donna Kreifels, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of white satin and lace. A sheer, off-shoulder yoke of illusion was framed by shallow scallops of the lace, which formed the long-sleeved bodice, and the wide satin skirt, which ended in a train, was trimmed by panels of lace. A pearl-embroidered tiara of net and satin held her illusion veil and she wore a necklace of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Red roses fashioned her bridal bouquet.

Harold Kreifels of Manhattan, Kan., brother of the bride, served as best man, and the ushers were Kenneth Kreifels of Albuquerque, N. M., also a brother of the bride, Robert Roettger and Dwaine Roettger, both of Otoe. Tommy Schreiter, nephew of the bride, was a ringbearer.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the parlors of the church, followed by a wedding luncheon for the members of the family and bridal party at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Czeschin will make their home in Lincoln. The bridegroom served over two years with the Army including 18 months overseas duty.

Jimmy Dykes Is Named Baltimore Orioles Manager

The Firing Line

Dr. W. H. Alexander, the only ordained minister to speak before a University Club Quarterbacks' dinner honoring a Nebraska team (Nov. 23), is a legend in Oklahoma.

It was Bud Wilkinson, the Oklahoma coach, who first spoke of the dynamic Dr. Alexander. Bud told The Firing Line that he'd never heard a better speaker.

Checking further, we came on this colorful biography of the forthcoming speaker:

"Start with a six foot three inch frame molded into a mass of muscular control acquired from rigid harnessing during a reign as an amateur boxing champion; pour in 215 pounds of dynamic energy that can be directed diversely from pulling the Oklahoma Symphony out of the red to facing the trigger-happy Nazis as a War Correspondent in Italy; sprinkle in generous portions of inspired humor and professional entertaining gleaned from the footlights and stages he graced in his teens; blend a master salesman's anecdotes and sparkling mannerisms with a captivation for a cause, season with sincerity and enthusiasm and top with the determination of a red-headed native Missourian—pour all into an environment of a successful pastorate of the largest Christian Church in Oklahoma, and there you have a recipe of success and a scanty glimpse of Dr. W. H. Alexander, the most sought after speaker in America today."

Time Magazine described this 36-year-old personality by observing that ". . . what Florenz Ziegfeld brought to Broadway and tabasco sauce to the raw oyster, the Rev. W. H. Alexander brought to religion in Oklahoma City." Not to be outdone Life Magazine decided that, ". . . he is providing the best histrionics that part of the country has seen since 'Pappy O'Daniel first started passing biscuits in Texas." But the editors of Look Magazine caught a glimpse of him in action and described it this way:

"Once, while delivering a sermon, the Rev. Bill Alexander backed too close to a brass rail separating the pulpit from a frame crashing onto the platform with a heavy thud. The congregation jumped to its feet. A woman screamed. Slowly the preacher arose and said with a grin, 'Brothers and sisters, that's probably the first and last time you'll see a preacher fall over a brass rail in the dry state of Oklahoma.'"

This strapping, handsome, two-fisted talker and brilliant thinker makes use of pool tables, bowling alleys and card games for the kids in his Youth Center situated beside the First Christian Church where the most positive youth program in the country answers the outdated criticisms of, ". . . thou shalt not religion" with "I'll leave it to you and your methods to teach the youth how to die: you must let me and my church teach them how to live."

Firing Line Special! Hobe To Michigan

Hobe Jones, the Huskers' gritty middle-distance star, has dropped out of school.

Jones, who was counted on as a mainstay of Coach Ed Weir's 1954 team, plans to transfer to Michigan where he can major in forestry. The subject is not offered at Nebraska.

A knee operation kept Jones from transferring to Michigan during the current semester.

Second to Kansas' Wes Santee with a brilliant 1:51.8 clocking in the Big Seven half mile at Ames last spring, Jones will be missed in the current Husker track scheme.

An Alabama Buffalo

Alabama Glass, 185-pound senior from Denver, will start at right end Saturday for the Colorado Buffaloes against Nebraska at Memorial Stadium. His first name is a family heirloom.

Marty Marion Dropped For Former Chief Of A's

BALTIMORE (AP) — General Manager Art Ehlers of the Baltimore Orioles announced Wednesday that Marty Marion has been dropped from the organization and Jimmy Dykes has been named field manager.

Dykes

Dykes was released only last week as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. It was indicated at first he would stay on with the club as an advisor.

He had managed the A's for two years in close association with Ehlers, who gave up the job as Philadelphia's general manager to come to Baltimore and take over the new Orioles.

The naming of Dykes means Marty Marion is out of a job. He was manager of the St. Louis Browns before they were transplanted to Baltimore as the new Orioles, and he still has a $30,000 year to go on his three-year contract.

Marion conferred with Ehlers here Monday and said he wanted to keep the job but "wouldn't bet" on his chances of retaining the position.

To salve his injuries, Marion has the satisfying knowledge that the outright release Ehlers gave him means his contract will be honored.

Rogers Hornsby, who was succeeded by Marion, is another idled executive who will remain on the Oriole payroll.

Dykes managed the Athletics for three seasons after taking over the club's reins from Connie Mack, who was the only previous A's field boss and who had held that job for 50 years before his retirement in 1950.

He took over an eighth place club in 1950, lifted it to sixth in 1951 and then pulled it up to fourth place finish in 1952. But this past season, the A's—plagued by numerous injuries, particularly to star lefthander Bobby Shantz and Shortstop Eddie Joost—dropped to seventh. Joost last week replaced Dykes as manager of the club.

Dykes was manager of the Chicago White Sox for 13 years, beginning in 1934—nearly half of that time as a playing pilot.

Rally, Rally, Rally!

Cheerleaders live it up at the first of two rallies to be held before the Huskers' homecoming game against Colorado Saturday. The Wednesday night affair began at the Student Union and wound up at the Carillon Tower after a parade in the campus area. The second rally, slated for Friday night, is an annual Homecoming tradition. (Star Photo.)

SEWARD — The excellent line of Seward High opened the Fullerton defense for two long drives and checked three retaliatory marches to lead in a 13-6 Bluejay victory in the Central Ten playoff here Armistice Day afternoon.

Coach Ralph Bowmaster's strong seven up front moved through the Fullerton line for a 79-yard scoring drive in the first period and a 78-yard march midway in the last period.

Between those successful movements Fullerton dominated the game because of six Seward fumbles which cost the champions the ball.

Halfback Jerry Bosak ripped some big yards out of that Seward defense and Quarterback Clyde Haskins passed well and moved for several important gains on end sweeps. He ran around right end for a 15-yard score in the second quarter to bring Fullerton to 6-7.

Seward had scored first when guard Bill Skokan caught a deflected pass in the end zone. Neil Rucksdashel plunged for the point.

Chuck Evans and Ken Styskal did most of the carrying for the second touchdown. Evans went two yards for the score.

Fullerton was stopped by a fumble on the Seward five and by the rugged Bluejays twice on downs inside the 25.

Deshler Defense Stalls Wilber, 9-0

Lincoln Star Special

DESHLER—A brilliant punting exhibition by Galan Eberhardt aided Deshler to a 9-0 victory over Wilber here Wednesday afternoon.

Eberhardt, punting from near the mid-field stripe, kicked the ball out-of-bounds inside the Wilber five-yard line five times during the game. These kicks and strong defensive play by Deshler prevented Wilber from moving past their own 45.

Roger Struve scored Deshler's touchdown on a plunge. A pass from Galan Eberhardt to Darrell Windhorst netted the extra-point. Dick Ashbury was tackled by Bob Poppe in the end zone in the first period to give Deshler its first two points.

Carter Defends Crown With KO In 5th Round

MONTREAL (AP) — Sturdy Jimmy Carter wrecked another "home town boy" challenger for his lightweight title Wednesday night when he knocked out Montreal's Armand Savoie in 59 seconds of the fifth round with one whistling right to the jaw.

Dropped flat on his back from the force of Carter's payoff wallop, the 23-year-old Savoie gamely tried to beat the count. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Both fighters were cut around the left eye in the fourth round when Carter started to press his attack after letting Savoie take the lead in the early rounds.

Bombing to the body with both hands, the 29-year-old champ from New York set up the knockout. As Carter lunged to the attack with the crushing right hand, Savoie's shiny title dream was ended.

It was the third successful defense this year for Carter, a 3 to 1 favorite, who also stopped Tommy Collins and George Araujo earlier.

The same three judges who gave Savoie a non-title split decision over the champ last February officiated. They weren't needed. Carter carried his own judges in his right fist.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out at the Montreal Forum for the city's first championship bout since 1931.

There was no radio or television of the scrap for which Carter got a $25,000 guarantee and Savoie 12½ per cent of the house. Carter weighed 133½, the lightest since he originally won the title from Ike Williams in 1951. Savoie scaled 134 pounds.

The angular French Canadian carried the fight to the champ in the early rounds. Jigging up and down at long range, he would pepper Carter and then grab to escape body punishment.

After a slow first round, Savoie drew cheers from the crowd with a rally in the second. Again in the third the challenger, still head hunting, kept pressing. Just before the end of the third, a left-right-left combination stung the champ.

A hook to the body, a solid hook to the point of the jaw and Savoie rocked back hurt. Carter crashed another series home midway in the fourth and wound up with a right-left combination to the body.

Elmwood Rolls Past Sterling In Apple Bowl

NEBRASKA CITY—Elmwood ran wild to completely outclass Sterling by a score of 45-8, Wednesday night, in the annual Apple Bowl contest.

Keith Drake, though scoring only one touchdown himself, was responsible for five other scores. Dick Apt scored the first touchdown on a 50-yard pass from Drake.

Later he went over for another score on a 20-yard run. Virgil Goracke hit paydirt on a 30-yard pass from Drake. Dale Lannin scored on another 30-yard pass effort by Drake. Another Drake pass hit Merle Backenmeyer in the end zone.

The other two touchdowns were scored on runs, one a 47-yard run by Drake and Clark Marshall scored the final TD via the ground.

Gene Stuart climaxed a late scoring drive by Sterling and saved the team from a shutout when he pushed the ball over from the six.

About 2,000 six-man grid-fans witnessed the tussle. The halftime ceremonies saw Susan Hobson, Weeping Water High School Senior, crowned Apple Queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Hobson.

Kitzelman Will Miss Colorado Tilt Saturday

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

Guard Max Kitzelman is definitely out of the Colorado game Saturday.

That was the lone injury note in the Nebraska football camp Wednesday as Coach Bill Glassford hustled his top two teams through a limited scrimmage.

Kitzelman, 230-pound junior from Omaha, also missed the Iowa State game because of the slow-mending ankle sprain. Like at Ames, he will be replaced by Jerry Paulson, 180-pounder from Dell Rapids, S. D.

Aside from Big Max, the Huskers were in top physical shape for the homecoming game.

Glassford and his aides were fighting an overconfidence wave, generated by successive victories over Kansas and Iowa State.

"This is one of our key games," commented Glassford. "We will be happy to win by one point."

Glassford stuck with his earlier notion of starting the same team as was fielded at the Iowa State kick-off.

A second unit Wednesday included Jack Braley and Jerry Yeager, ends; Pev Evans and Bill Holloran, tackles; Don Glantz and Tom Kripal, guards; Ted Britt, center; Dan Brown, quarterback; Rex Fischer and Dennis Korinek, halfbacks, and Nick Adduci and John Edwards alternating at fullback.

Ray Prochaska will scout Oklahoma, the final foe, against Iowa State at Norman Saturday, Glassford announced.

Returning lettermen are Larry Baker, Kenneth Lemmel, Roger Morris, Richard Svobda and Giesman.

VERN GAGNE

Gagne Wrestles Orton Tonight

Vern Gagne, the United States heavyweight champion, plays a command engagement at the fairgrounds arena tonight.

The former Minnesota football hero will face Bob Orton, 225-pound strong boy from Kansas City, Mo., in the feature match of Promoter Adam Krieger's card.

Gagne is undefeated in his last 41 matches and is working up to a match with Lou Thesz for the world's title. Orton is rated one of the leading challengers for the U. S. title.

In the semi-windup, Ras Samara, the African champion, meets Emil Dusek of the Omaha clan. Steve McGill and Dick Dusek, both of Omaha, collide in the opening event.

Bob Sauer, former Lincoln High football star, has been imported from Denver to referee the matches.

"Gagne demanded the best referee in the business," said Krieger, "and young Sauer is just about that."

SEWARD — The excellent line of Seward High opened the Fullerton defense for two long drives and checked three retaliatory marches to lead in a 13-6 Bluejay victory in the Central Ten playoff here Armistice Day afternoon.

Coach Ralph Bowmaster's strong seven up front moved through the Fullerton line for a 79-yard scoring drive in the first period and a 78-yard march midway in the last period.

Between those successful movements Fullerton dominated the game because of six Seward fumbles which cost the champions the ball.

Halfback Jerry Bosak ripped some big yards out of that Seward defense and Quarterback Clyde Haskins passed well and moved for several important gains on end sweeps. He ran around right end for a 15-yard score in the second quarter to bring Fullerton to 6-7.

Seward had scored first when guard Bill Skokan caught a deflected pass in the end zone. Neil Rucksdashel plunged for the point.

Chuck Evans and Ken Styskal did most of the carrying for the second touchdown. Evans went two yards for the score.

Fullerton was stopped by a fumble on the Seward five and by the rugged Bluejays twice on downs inside the 25.

Deshler Defense Stalls Wilber, 9-0

Lincoln Star Special

DESHLER—A brilliant punting exhibition by Galan Eberhardt aided Deshler to a 9-0 victory over Wilber here Wednesday afternoon.

Eberhardt, punting from near the mid-field stripe, kicked the ball out-of-bounds inside the Wilber five-yard line five times during the game. These kicks and strong defensive play by Deshler prevented Wilber from moving past their own 45.

Roger Struve scored Deshler's touchdown on a plunge. A pass from Galan Eberhardt to Darrell Windhorst netted the extra-point. Dick Ashbury was tackled by Bob Poppe in the end zone in the first period to give Deshler its first two points.

Rally, Rally, Rally!

Carter Defends Crown With KO In 5th Round

MONTREAL (AP) — Sturdy Jimmy Carter wrecked another "home town boy" challenger for his lightweight title Wednesday night when he knocked out Montreal's Armand Savoie in 59 seconds of the fifth round with one whistling right to the jaw.

Dropped flat on his back from the force of Carter's payoff wallop, the 23-year-old Savoie gamely tried to beat the count. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Both fighters were cut around the left eye in the fourth round when Carter started to press his attack after letting Savoie take the lead in the early rounds.

Bombing to the body with both hands, the 29-year-old champ from New York set up the knockout. As Carter lunged to the attack with the crushing right hand, Savoie's shiny title dream was ended.

It was the third successful defense this year for Carter, a 3 to 1 favorite, who also stopped Tommy Collins and George Araujo earlier.

The same three judges who gave Savoie a non-title split decision over the champ last February officiated. They weren't needed. Carter carried his own judges in his right fist.

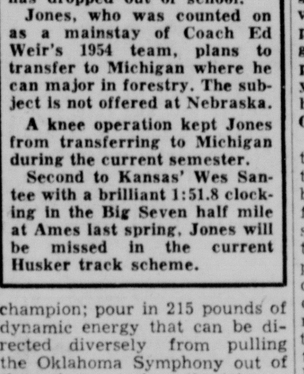

A crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out at the Montreal Forum for the city's first championship bout since 1931.

There was no radio or television of the scrap for which Carter got a $25,000 guarantee and Savoie 12½ per cent of the house. Carter weighed 133½, the lightest since he originally won the title from Ike Williams in 1951. Savoie scaled 134 pounds.

The angular French Canadian carried the fight to the champ in the early rounds. Jigging up and down at long range, he would pepper Carter and then grab to escape body punishment.

After a slow first round, Savoie drew cheers from the crowd with a rally in the second. Again in the third the challenger, still head hunting, kept pressing. Just before the end of the third, a left-right-left combination stung the champ.

A hook to the body, a solid hook to the point of the jaw and Savoie rocked back hurt. Carter crashed another series home midway in the fourth and wound up with a right-left combination to the body.

Gagne Wrestles Orton Tonight

Vern Gagne, the United States heavyweight champion, plays a command engagement at the fairgrounds arena tonight.

The former Minnesota football hero will face Bob Orton, 225-pound strong boy from Kansas City, Mo., in the feature match of Promoter Adam Krieger's card.

Gagne is undefeated in his last 41 matches and is working up to a match with Lou Thesz for the world's title. Orton is rated one of the leading challengers for the U. S. title.

In the semi-windup, Ras Samara, the African champion, meets Emil Dusek of the Omaha clan. Steve McGill and Dick Dusek, both of Omaha, collide in the opening event.

Bob Sauer, former Lincoln High football star, has been imported from Denver to referee the matches.

"Gagne demanded the best referee in the business," said Krieger, "and young Sauer is just about that."

Elmwood Rolls Past Sterling In Apple Bowl

NEBRASKA CITY—Elmwood ran wild to completely outclass Sterling by a score of 45-8, Wednesday night, in the annual Apple Bowl contest.

Keith Drake, though scoring only one touchdown himself, was responsible for five other scores. Dick Apt scored the first touchdown on a 50-yard pass from Drake.

Later he went over for another score on a 20-yard run. Virgil Goracke hit paydirt on a 30-yard pass from Drake. Dale Lannin scored on another 30-yard pass effort by Drake. Another Drake pass hit Merle Backenmeyer in the end zone.

The other two touchdowns were scored on runs, one a 47-yard run by Drake and Clark Marshall scored the final TD via the ground.

Gene Stuart climaxed a late scoring drive by Sterling and saved the team from a shutout when he pushed the ball over from the six.

About 2,000 six-man grid-fans witnessed the tussle. The halftime ceremonies saw Susan Hobson, Weeping Water High School Senior, crowned Apple Queen. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Hobson.

Spartan-MichiganGame Slated On National TV

By ROBERT E. VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A nation-wide television audience will be pecking in on a family fight when Michigan and Michigan State meet before a sellout crowd of more than 51,000 here Saturday.

It will be the 46th clash between the two schools in a series that started in 1898.

It's a bitter rivalry too, as only these family affairs can be.

Nothing makes the two schools madder than to be confused with each other, but outside the state it happens all the time.

As a handy reference, here's a rundown on how to tell them apart.

Michigan State is the land grant agricultural college located at East Lansing. Its colors are green and white and its totem is the Spartan—a statue of the Greek warrior.

Michigan State is the newest member of the western conference, and is currently under probation. MSC ranks fourth in the Associated Press football poll after its 28-game streak was broken by Purdue three weeks ago.

The University of Michigan, specializing in the production of doctors and lawyers, is located at Ann Arbor, about 65 miles from Michigan State. Its colors are maize and blue and its totem is the Wolverine—an animal now as extinct as the dodo in Michigan.

No Coaching Changes Now, Says Watkins

Steven Watkins, Superintendent of Schools, Wednesday said that he is "highly in favor of a teacher being head coach of just one major sport."

At present two coaches in the city are head coaches of two Major sports. Bun Galloway is head coach of football and track at Northeast and Tom Gillaspie is head coach of the same sports at College View. Bill Preiff was directing two sports at Lincoln High, but this fall Harold Scott was appointed to take over the track team.

Watkins said that nothing has been done to date in this respect and no immediate changes are planned.

The "one sport per coach" plan and the addition of the new Southeast high school due to open in 1955, would create several coaching vacancies in the Lincoln School system.

Rumors had been circulating about immediate changes in coaching personnel, but Watkins said he knew nothing about these reports.

"Often I am the last person to hear of such talk, but I know of no action in this regard," he said.

One rumor had Ed Schwartzkopf, assistant football coach at Lincoln High, assuming head football coaching duties at Northeast High. Another rumor had Max Hester, assistant grid coach at Northeast, being named head coach at Southeast when that school was completed.

Other coaching positions will open up when the sports program at Northeast is expanded. The Rockets will compete in swimming and baseball for the first time this season. They also may add wrestling to their interscholastic athletic activities, Watkins reported.

Southeast, when completed, will have an athletic program that will include the major sports — football, basketball, track and baseball—plus swimming, wrestling, golf, tennis and gymnastics.

Watkins said that all coaches in the public school system are hired as full-time teachers and that the coaching assignments are extras for which they receive additional pay.

He said that a teacher may be assigned to any school within the system.

Troy Wins By 7th Round KO In Sandy Go

WASHINGTON (AP)—Willie Troy, a very classy yougster, won himself a shot at the middleweight championship Wednesday night by knocking out Randy Sandy of New York at 50 seconds of the seventh round of their televised bout. Troy weighed 158½, Sandy 153.

Troy, a 22-year-old from Washington, turned in his 23rd victory against one defeat with a bruising two-fisted assault that had Sandy retreating from the second round on.

Sandy came close to being knocked out in the fifth and sixth rounds when Troy bombed him repeatedly with left hooks and long right smashes.

In the sixth, one overhand right jarred Sandy halfway across the ring. But he hung on until the bell.

Alliance Scores 26-20 Upset Win

SCOTTSBLUFF (AP) — Alliance upset Scottsbluff here Wednesday, 26-20, to throw the West Big Ten football race into a three way tie.

McCook, co-champion with Scottsbluff and Alliance, gets the playoff spot against Grand Island.

Alliance exploded with two touchdowns in the fourth period to overcome a 14-13 Scottsbluff lead and go ahead 26-14.

Fullback Bob Wilkins scored the first touchdown in the last period and a Joe Smith to Bob Morris pass added the other.

Holmesville School's New Gym Going Up

Above workmen are putting up the last rafter for the new Holmesville Consolidated School combination gymnasium and auditorium. The work is being done mainly by volunteer labor from the district under the supervision of W. W. Wranosky of Wymore, contractor. The building is 112 by 60 feet, of quonset type construction and will have a maple playing floor. A committee consisting of Bob McKenzie, L. L. Frantz and Henry Siefkes arrange for each day's laborers and as yet have had no trouble obtaining workers. They hope to have the gym finished by January or February depending on availability of materials. (Star Staff Photo.)

Antelope Season A 94 Pct. Success

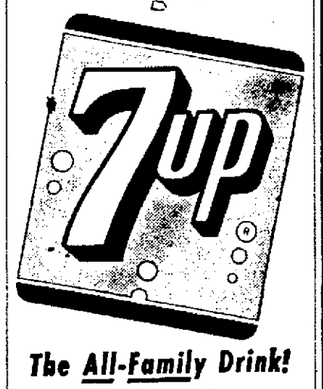

A 94 per cent hunter success score, rated among the best reported by any state in the U. S., was recorded for Nebraska's brief antelope season held in mid-September.

After 132 successful antelope hunters reported to the checking station at Sidney, Lloyd Vance, supervisor of game for the Game Commission, wrote the remaining 18 antelope permit holders. Eight of those didn't hunt for various reasons such as being hospitalized and moving out of the state.

Two hunters shot antelope and failed to check through the station. These have since been contacted by conservation officers. The remaining eight permit holders hunted without success. Three of the latter group consisted of women who "couldn't get close enough for a shot."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Willie Troy, a very classy yougster, won himself a shot at the middleweight championship Wednesday night by knocking out Randy Sandy of New York at 50 seconds of the seventh round of their televised bout. Troy weighed 158½, Sandy 153.

Troy, a 22-year-old from Washington, turned in his 23rd victory against one defeat with a bruising two-fisted assault that had Sandy retreating from the second round on.

Sandy came close to being knocked out in the fifth and sixth rounds when Troy bombed him repeatedly with left hooks and long right smashes.

In the sixth, one overhand right jarred Sandy halfway across the ring. But he hung on until the bell.

Alliance Scores 26-20 Upset Win

McCook, co-champion with Scottsbluff and Alliance, gets the playoff spot against Grand Island.

Alliance exploded with two touchdowns in the fourth period to overcome a 14-13 Scottsbluff lead and go ahead 26-14.

Fullback Bob Wilkins scored the first touchdown in the last period and a Joe Smith to Bob Morris pass added the other.

Holmesville School's New Gym Going Up

Above workmen are putting up the last rafter for the new Holmesville Consolidated School combination gymnasium and auditorium. The work is being done mainly by volunteer labor from the district under the supervision of W. W. Wranosky of Wymore, contractor. The building is 112 by 60 feet, of quonset type construction and will have a maple playing floor. A committee consisting of Bob McKenzie, L. L. Frantz and Henry Siefkes arrange for each day's laborers and as yet have had no trouble obtaining workers. They hope to have the gym finished by January or February depending on availability of materials. (Star Staff Photo.)

TECUMSEH — Nebraska City provided little competition Tuesday as Tecumseh racked up its sixth win of the season, 32-6, here.

The Indians finished the season with a six win, one loss, one tie, record for the season, and a second place in the Southeast Nebraska conference.

Jack Rodgers paced the Tecumseh attack with two touchdowns, both on runs of 10 yards. Walter Huff scored the first touchdown on a 15-yard run. Jack Stinson scored a marker in the third period on a 13 yard jaunt. The final score was racked up on a pass from John Higgins to Riley Rubey pass. Higgins a 240-pound tackle who moved to the backfield in the second half, surprised the Indian partisans with his sparkling running and passing.

New Job For Ike

DETROIT (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday had a new job—honorary chairman of the Professional Golfers Association.

Antelope Season A 94 Pct. Success

A 94 per cent hunter success score, rated among the best reported by any state in the U. S., was recorded for Nebraska's brief antelope season held in mid-September.

After 132 successful antelope hunters reported to the checking station at Sidney, Lloyd Vance, supervisor of game for the Game Commission, wrote the remaining 18 antelope permit holders. Eight of those didn't hunt for various reasons such as being hospitalized and moving out of the state.

Two hunters shot antelope and failed to check through the station. These have since been contacted by conservation officers. The remaining eight permit holders hunted without success. Three of the latter group consisted of women who "couldn't get close enough for a shot."

New 'Flu-Like Mystery Disease Is Described

NEW YORK (AP)—A new mystery disease, which acts like 'flu and is apparently far more common, was described Wednesday by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

A new vaccine protects against the 'flu virus, he said. But there's no protection yet against this "X" disease which hits during 'flu epidemics.

Just what agent causes the new disease isn't known. It might be the so-called "virus X," blamed for grippe-like ailments.

Dr. Salk, who developed both the new polio vaccine and 'flu vaccine, described the mystery ailment to the American Public Health Assn.

Blood Tests

He detected it during studies of influenza and his vaccine at Fort Dix, N. J., during the last few years. The disease may be the same as one detected by other researchers at Fort Bragg, N. C.

The "X" disease accounted for about two-thirds of all soldiers hospitalized during wintertime 'flu waves. Blood tests can show when a person has real 'flu.

'Flu cases rise rapidly in number, then decline quickly. One year, the "X" disease reached a peak 15 days later, then declined a bit, then rose again. Another year, it came in three successive waves.

Existence of the "X" disease explains why the new 'flu vaccine sometimes seems to fail to work, Dr. Salk said. His tests show that the vaccine gives real protection against 'flu, for at least two years time. But the "X" hit equally among troops vaccinated against influenza, and those not vaccinated.

The "X" causes fever and all the other symptoms of 'flu. The "X" attack is usually mild, lasting one to five days. So far no deaths have been attributed to it.

If the cause is found, the 'flu vaccine could be expanded to protect against the "X" as well as against 'flu, Dr. Salk said.

Russia Slams Door On Talk Of Big 4 Meet

Tass Says Parley OK Not True

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia in effect slammed the door Wednesday on talk of a Big Four meeting as a possible follow-up to the Western Big Three talks at Bermuda.

That was the construction placed here upon the toughly worded statement issued in Moscow in the form of a comment on a news dispatch originating in London Tuesday. The dispatch, by the French News Agency, said Soviet Prime Minister Malenkov had been approached on and had indicated agreement with, Prime Minister Chuchill's proposal for a Big Four session.

The Soviet news agency Tass announced Wednesday that it was "authorized" to say that the London report "in no way conforms to reality" and that it appeared to be designed to divert attention from the "aims" of the forthcoming Bermuda conference.

American officials said that the significance of the statement was to be found as much in what it did not say as in what it did say. It did not give the slightest intimation that Malenkov would be interested in a meeting with Churchill, President Eisenhower and French Premier Laniel. It did not seek in any way to bring public pressure to bear on the Bermuda meeting to act favorably on an invitation to Malenkov.

Wasting Time

On the contrary it took a completely negative line and in effect seemed to say to Churchill, Eisenhower and Laniel that they would be wasting their time to try to get Malenkov into a session under present conditions.

That interpretation of the note appeared to be borne out by the fact that the Soviet denial covered both the idea that a "proposal" had been made to Malenkov and that Malenkov had sent word he was "prepared to agree."

It is generally considered here to be true that Churchill has at some point made known his own ideas through diplomatic channels as well as in public official statements. Therefore Washington assumes that if Malenkov wanted to act as if he had a proposal before him he would have no difficulty in doing so. Certainly if he wanted to stimulate a formal invitation from the Bermuda meeting there are many things which he could cause to be done now which might have that result.

Wednesday's statement also showed that the Kremlin aims to discredit the Bermuda conference as much as possible. It branded the French news report as an attempt to divert attention from the true purposes of the Big Three talks. The Russians have charged throughout the cold war that the Western powers were ganging up on them. This apparently is to be the Soviet line on the Bermuda Conference.

Library Will Get Modern Entrance

These huge, wooden doors on the Lincoln City Library front entrance will be replaced in the near future, it was announced in the last Library board meeting. The doors have long been a trial to young and old alike and have defied the efforts of Lincolnites enough times to cause the board to authorize the expenditure of $700 to replace them and modernize the doorway. (Star Staff Photo.)

Shop Clerk Terms Queen 'Swell Gal'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Queen Frederika of Greece went shopping Wednesday and a salesgirl said, "She's a swell gal and I loved waiting on her."

The queen made purchases in two shops at the Fairmont Hotel where she and the king are staying during their visit.

Italy Not Waiting For Outside Help, Credit Club Told

C. W. Smith, University of Nebraska agricultural engineer, recently returned from a mission to Italy, said at the Retail Credit Club of Lincoln that the Italian people are not waiting for outside aid to solve their agricultural problems.

The Italians, he said, are deep in a land reform program of such magnitude that it would amaze Americans.

Although the landowners are not too appreciative of the 1948 land reform law, Smith believes that the people in general feel it is all right.

3 Germans Accused

WEIDEN, Germany (AP)—Three Germans were held today on charges they stole more than 50 tons of metal landing strips from a U. S. Army Airfield and smuggled the material behind the Iron Curtain via Italy.

City Library Door To Be Remodeled

The front doorway of the City Library will be remodeled in the near future, it was announced following meeting of the Lincoln City Library Board.

According to Charles Dalrymple, director of the library, the move is being made to improve appearance and also eliminate the difficulty caused by the heavy wooden doors now in place. The cost of the construction was estimated at about $700.

Another move approved by the board was the declaring of the day after New Year's and Christmas as holidays for library employees. In the future, Dalrymple said, the library will take the same holidays as other city employees.

In reviewing the monthly report the board found that activity in all departments, except the processing of new books, had increased.

Discussion was also held on the insurance program for the library and final action was deferred until the next meeting.

New Polio Aid Is Discovered With Development Of 'Pure' Virus

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Development of the purest preparations of human polio virus ever obtained was announced Wednesday and described as a possible aid towards strengthening the fight against the disease.

Improved vaccines designed for preventing polio might eventually be developed as a result of the new research, and perhaps even a chemical weapon to treat the disease, declared Dr. Wendell Stanley of the University of California at Berkeley who made the announcement about the virus purification advance.

Dr. Stanley said that because of the new research development, as well as other research efforts on polio in various parts of the country, he is confident that "a fully adequate vaccine will be available in the next five to 10 years."

In a report to the closing session of the National Academy of Sciences, amplified in an interview, Stanley said the significance of the new research — done by Dr. Howard L. Bachrach and Dr. Carleton E. Schwerdt at the Berkeley laboratory—is this:

It has made possible the first "definite" isolation and identification of human polio virus, paving the way for chemical analysis of the structure of the wily organism—an analysis that conceivably could reveal potential dents in its armor.

Scientists, for the first time, he said, can distinguish with certainty between virus and non-virus material in preparations known to contain polio germs.

Stanley explained that hitherto, identification of polio virus has been hindered by the fact that polio viruses in material subjected to purification techniques could not be distinguished from particles of contaminant still remaining despite the purification process.

Up to now, he added, the purest preparations of virus material developed for experiments and study contained only about one per cent virus, the remainder being contaminant substance.

In the research at the University of California, he added, one purified preparation is known to contain 10 per cent virus, while there are indications that another preparation consists almost entirely of virus alone.

Car Dealers To Meet On 'Tax Day'

C. G. Rose of Hastings, president of the Nebraska New Car Dealers Association, has called a special meeting of the executive and legislative committees in Lincoln for Friday, Nov 20—the same day Gov. Crosby will give details of his tax approach. The meeting will be at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Rose explained that as a state organization, the association feels it necessary to give prompt study to the governor's proposed program. The association meeting in Lincoln will provide an opportunity to initiate a statewide poll of the members if necessary, on the subjects set forth by the governor, Rose added.

"As small businessmen, we have a tremendous interest in Nebraska's tax problems. As motor vehicle dealers, we pay local and state taxes on considerable real estate holdings in almost every town of the state," Rose said.

The association president congratulated Gov. Crosby on his action in calling the conference to constitute action before the 1954 Mar. 10 assessment date.

Former State Senator Floyd Pohlman is chairman of the legislative committee.

It must be almost time to pay off on those bets that were made years ago that Communism would collapse when Stalin collapsed.

☆ ☆ ☆

Uncle Joe was removed to the earth quite a time ago and if Communism has collapsed or is collapsing it doesn't show any.

☆ ☆ ☆

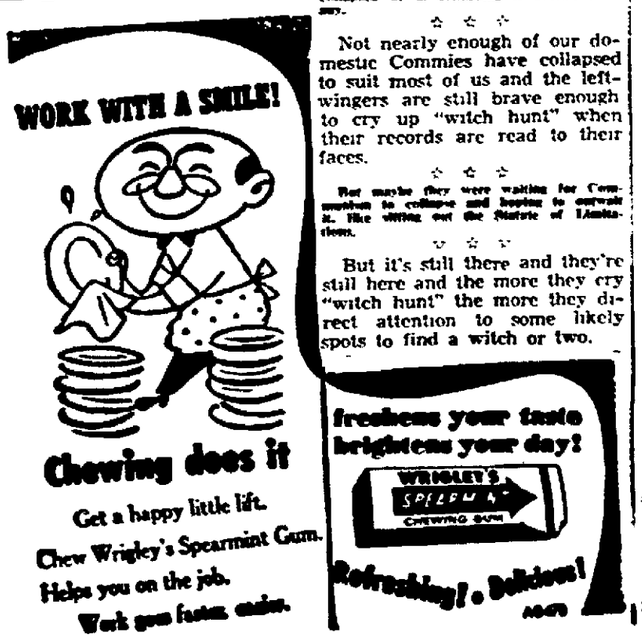

Not nearly enough of our domestic Commies have collapsed to suit most of us and the left-wingers are still brave enough to cry up "witch hunt" when their records are read to their faces.

☆ ☆ ☆

But maybe they were waiting for Communism to collapse and hoping to outwait it, like sitting out the Statute of Limitations.

☆ ☆ ☆

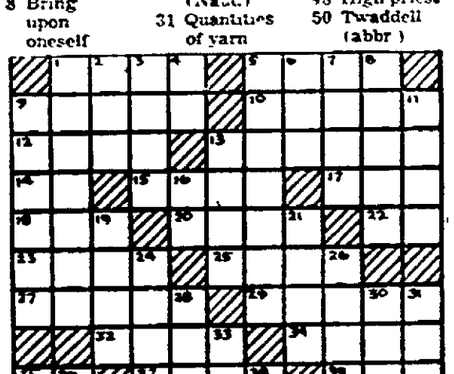

But it's still there and they're still here and the more they cry "witch hunt" the more they direct attention to some likely spots to find a witch or two.

Markets Closed

Financial and commodity markets were closed Wednesday for the Armistice Day holiday. Livestock reports were gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Livestock Market Shows Light Run

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha livestock run Wednesday was light for mid-week, cut down because most packing plants were observing the Armistice holiday. The cattle run was 4,000; calves 400; hogs 3,000; sheep 2,000.

OMAHA

Cattle: Fat cattle trade was generally active, steady to 50 cents higher; some sales up more with the upturn credited to short supply; demand centered on choice and prime grades but some grading good and down also scored the day's full upturn; only scattered lots of plain short feds and medium new crop steers over 1,200 lbs. were slow sellers. Numerous sales of slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $22.00@26.00 with better steers to $27.50 and $28.00, latter for 1,200 lbs.; plain killers $18.00 down; fed heifers over 900 lbs. sold at $24.50. The short run was no help to cow trade. Cow classes looked steady; canners and cutters $8.00@9.50; beef cows to $13.00; odd young cows to $14.00; bologna bulls again sold to $12.50; beef bulls to $10.00; veal calves again sold to $20.00, quotable even above that figure. Scattered small lots of stocker and feeder cattle at $15.00@18.00 looked steady.

Hogs: Butchers sold steady to mostly 25 cents higher; 180-270 lb. weights $20.00@20.50; a load or better at $20.60 and $20.75; sows weighing 250-550 lbs. cleared at $18.00@19.75; stags brought $16.50@18.00.

Lambs: Fat lambs sustained their third consecutive 50 cent break; good to prime wooled $17.00@19.00; shorn with No. 1 pelts $18.50; slaughter ewes held at $5.00@6.50; feeder lambs too scarce for fair test of trade carried a lower undertone.

CHICAGO

Hogs: Salable: 5,000; butchers opened active, 25c higher on good shipping demand but closed with advance lost; sows mostly steady; bulk 190 to 240 lb., $20.35@20.50; scattered sales, $20.60 and one load 210 lb., $20.65; few 140 to 160 lb., $17.75@20.00; few 170 to 180 lb., $20.00@20.25; odd head 280 to 325 lb., $19.75@20.25; most 300 to 600 lb. sows, $17.25@19.00; good clearance.

Cattle: Salable, 7,000; calves, 300; steers and heifers active, mostly steady to 50c higher, cows very slow, mostly 25c to 50c lower; bulls and vealers steady; most choice and prime steers, $23.50@28.50; load high-prime 1,406 lb., $28.75 and several lots 1,185 to 1,250 lb., $26.25; good to low-choice steers, $19.50@23.00; commercial $16.00@18.50; load high-prime 1,190 lb. heifers, $20.75; bulk good to choice, $18.00@24.00; commercial, $13.00@16.50; utility and commercial cows, $9.25@12.00; canners and cutters mostly, $7.50@9.00; light canners to under, $7.00- utility and commercial bulls, $11.00@14.00; medium weight and heavy fat bulls, $10.50@11.50; prime vealers to $23.00; most good ot choice, $19.00@22.00; commercials down to $15.00.

Sheep: Salable, 2,000; generally steady on lambs and ewes; most wooled lambs, $19.50 down but few selects to city butchers at $20.00; load 98 lb. clipped lambs, $18.25; yearlings absent but quotable around $16.50; double deck Montana canner ewes $5.50 but choice handyweights quotable to $7.00.

Republican Rush To Grill Truman Slows As Eisenhower Backs Loyalty Of Ex-President

South Carolina, refused to obey the committee's subpoena for an appearance Thursday.

In a telegram from Columbia, S. C., Byrnes said he could not "admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return.." He proposed that a subcommittee come to Columbia.

Date Will Be Set

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) wired back that the suggestion undoubtedly would be adopted by the committee and a date would be fixed as soon as possible.

It was on Velde's say-so that the subpoenas for Truman and Byrnes were issued in the first place. A subpoena for Friday was served, too, on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, who was Truman's attorney general in 1946. That also was something Eisenhower said he personally wouldn't have done.

The senior democrat on the Un-American Activites Committee, Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania, told a news conference of his own Velde was "getting his instructions" from the Republican National Committee. Committee officials came through with a quick denial.

Three Democratic committee members said they have heard there will be no hearings this week and asked Velde in a letter to let them know officially and immediately what the score is on that.

The letter was signed by Walter and Reps. Frazier of Tennessee and Moulder of Missouri.

The letter said that the only other Democratic member of the committee, Rep. Doyle of California, had told Walter in a telephone conversation he had been informed by Committee Counsel Robert Kunzig there would be no hearings this week.

In the same letter, the Democrats formally demanded that Brownell be subpoenaed as the first witness in any hearings that are held on the White case.

Brownell late in the day issued a statement saying the State Department had supplied him a copy of a memorandum dated Feb. 5, 1946, from Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman. Brownell said the memo shows that White's "espionage activities were known to the White House and other government agencies before Senate confirmation and before his promotion to the important position of executive director of the international monetary fund."

Loyalty Not Questioned

White's nomination was approved by the Senate Feb. 6, 1946.

Brownell also said the Justice Department will furnish the senate Internal Security Subcommittee as soon as possible requested information "concerning the laxity of the prior administration in dealing with Communist infiltration in government."

"In charging that there has has been laxity, which I believe to be the case," the attorney general said, "there is no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration."

In view of the Byrnes memo, Brownell said, it now seems beyond question that there was laxity.

The Byrnes memo for the President, as quoted by Brownell, said:

"The enclosed letter addressed to Mr. Frederick Lyon (then security officer) of this (State) Department by Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, and the enclosures referring to Dexter White, I deem of such importance that I think you should read them."

In a session with reporters that approached but never quite reached the boiling point, the President said the full FBI reports on White should not be made public, as they contain material that must be protected, but certainly the essentials of the evidence must be.

Eisenhower said he believes it is reckless, to say nothing of un-American, to make accusations from any kind of favored position where you are unprepared to show what has happened and to make available the essentials of the evidence.

Yet, thumping a desk with fingertips, the chief executive said he wasn't going to give his cabinet officer orders on methods of handling his responsibilities or prejudice his case in advance. He said he doesn't think Brownell intends to conceal anything other than the particular form of a document.

Brownell, Eisenhower declared, has got to handle the case in his own way now. He said he himself doesn't intend to be a party to what looks like rank injustice to anybody.

Every real American, the President said, must fight Communist ideologies and doctrines, but not in an un-American way that will destroy what we are trying to defend.

Twice Eisenhower folded his arms across chest, bristled and glared at his questioners. And it was with a show of irritation that he finally cut off inquiries on the White case after they ran on for 18 minutes and the greater part of the news conference.

In something of the fashion of a cross examiner, Raymond P. Brandt put in a whole series of questions suggested by his newspaper, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

One of them was:

"Do you think the administration's action in virtually putting a label of traitor on a former President is likely to damage our foreign relations?"

Obviously irked, Eisenhower replied that he rejected the premise and wouldn't answer the question.

Robert Spivack of the New York Post asked if he didn't think there was a moral obligation to make public the FBI reports on White, "since Mr. Brownell has impugned the loyalty of a former president and a grand jury said that it couldn't find a basis for indicting White."

Again Eisenhower said he wouldn't accept the premise that Brownell had impugned Truman's loyalty.

He said Brownell never told him that Truman ever saw the FBI papers while President. He said Brownell told him the papers went to the White House and that was all.

Eisenhower broke off the questioning on the White case after Robert Riggs of the Louisville Courier-Journal said there was some question as to whether the FBI report said White was a spy or merely associated with Communists.

"Did Mr. Brownell say to you that the FBI report called him a spy?" Riggs asked.

Eisenhower repeated something of what he had said before to the effect that Brownell had conferred with him an advance of making his charges in a speech in Chicago last Friday. He said Brownell reported there was evidence there had been subversive action of which high government officials were aware. Brownell mentioned White's name, and said the evidence was so clear he considered it his duty to lay it out and not be a party to concealing it.

Eisenhower said he told Brownell he had to follow his own conscience as to his duty.

This version varied a bit from that of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. Hagerty told newsmen Friday that "the President told the attorney general it was his duty to report it to the American people."

Byrnes Urged Blocking

There was nothing to indicate whether the memo reached the White House Feb. 5 or actually was delivered to Truman. But Byrnes has said he conferred with Truman the day the Senate approved White's promotion. He said he suggested steps for blocking the appointment, but it went through anyway.

While Truman has said he doesn't remember receiving any FBI reports on White, Byrnes quoted him as saying he had read such a report and was surprised.

Byrnes himself, in a statement Monday night, didn't say anything about the FBI reporting on "espionage activities" by White. He said a representative of FBI Director Hoover had delivered to his secretary a copy of a report about White and "his affiliations with Communists."

Velde's committee is warring internally over the whole Brownell-White-Truman affair—over where it goes from here and whether the chairman broke committee rules in acting without consent of the full membership.

Some of the Republicans were all for going right ahead with hearings, regardless of Eisenhower's personal views. Democrats roundly applauded the President's stand. They have been protesting right along that Brownell's charges were a low form of politics.

Both the Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee have summoned Truman's former military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, for appearance Thursday. Brownell has said copies of the FBI reports on White were sent to Truman through Vaughan.

Joint Meeting Possible

Velde has been considering the idea of a joint meeting with the Senate subcommittee to question Vaughan. He said he would confer with the subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) Thursday, and have a statement on what will be done about a Vaughan hearing afterward.

Velde declined to comment on the possibility of postponement of any hearings for Truman and Clark or on the Democratic bid to make Brownell the first witness.

That was after a three-hour huddle with Reps. Clardy (R-Mich) and Scherer (R-Ohio), with Kunzig and the committee's research director, Raphael Nixon, sitting in.

The plan of the Jenner subcommittee, if it goes it alone, was to question Vaughan at a closed door session Thursday afternoon and then at an open, televised hearing in mid-afternoon.

The subcommittee also is eyeing T. Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general, as a witness. Caudle has been quoted as saying he begged Clark to take some action on the FBI reports on White.

The subcommittee set a closed meeting for Thursday morning with some unnamed witnesses. Possibly Caudle may be one of them.

Eisenhower seemed to be taking something of a middle ground in the whole vast ruckus.

Markets Closed

Financial and commodity markets were closed Wednesday for the Armistice Day holiday. Livestock reports were gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Livestock Market Shows Light Run

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha livestock run Wednesday was light for mid-week, cut down because most packing plants were observing the Armistice holiday. The cattle run was 4,000; calves 400; hogs 3,000; sheep 2,000.

OMAHA

Cattle: Fair cattle trade was generally active, steady to 50 cents higher; some sales up more with the upturn credited to short supply; demand centered on choice and prime grades but some grading good and down also scored the day's full upturn; only scattered lots of plain short feds and medium new crop steers over 1,200 lbs. were slow sellers. Numerous sales of slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $22.00@26.00 with better grades to $27.50 and $28.00, latter for 1,200 lbs.; plain killers $18.00 down; fed heifers over 960 lbs. sold at $24.50. The short run was no help to cow trade. Cow classes looked steady; canners and cutters $8.00@9.50; beef cows to $13.00; odd young cows to $14.00; bologna bulls again sold to $12.50; beef bulls to $10.00; veal calves again sold to $20.00, quotable even above that figure. Scattered small lots of stocker and feeder cattle at $15.00@18.00 looked steady.

Hogs: Butchers sold steady to mostly 25 cents higher; 180-270 lb. weights $20.00@20.50; a load or better at $20.60 and $20.75; sows weighing 250-550 lbs. cleared at $18.00@19.75; stags brought $16.50@18.00.

Lambs: Fat lambs sustained their third consecutive 50 cent break; good to prime wooled $17.00@19.00; shorn with No. 1 pelts $18.50; slaughter ewes held at $5.00@6.50; feeder lambs too scarce for fair test of trade carried a lower undertone.

CHICAGO

Hogs: Salable: 5,000; butchers opened active, 25c higher on good shipping demand but closed with advance lost; sows mostly steady; bulk 190 to 240 lb., $20.35@20.50; scattered sales, $20.60 and one load 210 lb., $20.65; few 140 to 160 lb., $17.75@20.00; few 170 to 180 lb., $20.00@20.25; odd head 280 to 325 lb., $19.75@20.25; most 300 to 600 lb. sows, $17.25@19.00; good clearance.

Cattle: Salable, 7,000; calves, 300; steers and heifers active, mostly steady to 50c higher, cows very slow, mostly 25c to 50c lower; bulls and vealers steady; most choice and prime steers, $23.50@28.50; load high-prime 1,406 lb., $28.75 and several lots 1,185 to 1,250 lb., $30.25; good to low-choice steers, $19.50@23.00; commercial $16.00@18.50; load high-prime 1,190 lb. heifers, $26.75; bulk good to choice, $18.00@24.00; commercial, $13.00@16.50; utility and commercial cows, $9.25@12.00; canners and cutters mostly, $7.50@9.00; light canners to under $7.00; utility and commercial bulls, $11.00@14.00; medium weight and heavy fat bulls, $10.50@11.50; prime vealers to $23.00; most good ot choice, $19.00@22.00; commercials down to $15.00.

Sheep: Salable, 2,000; generally steady on lambs and ewes; most wooled lambs, $19.50 down but few selects to city butchers at $20.00; load 98 lb. clipped lambs, $18.25; yearlings absent but quotable around $16.50; double deck Montana canner ewes $5.50 but choice handyweights quotable to $7.00.

South Carolina, refused to obey the committee's subpoena for an appearance Thursday.

In a telegram from Columbia, S. C., Byrnes said he could not "admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return.." He proposed that a subcommittee come to Columbia.

Date Will Be Set

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) wired back that the suggestion undoubtedly would be adopted by the committee and a date would be fixed as soon as possible.

It was on Velde's say-so that the subpoenas for Truman and Byrnes were issued in the first place. A subpoena for Friday was served, too, on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, who was Truman's attorney general in 1946. That also was something Eisenhower said he personally wouldn't have done.

The senior democrat on the Un-American Activites Committee, Rep. Walter of Pennsylvania, told a news conference of his own Velde was "getting his instructions" from the Republican National Committee. Committee officials came through with a quick denial.

Three Democratic committee members said they have heard there will be no hearings this week and asked Velde in a letter to let them know officially and immediately what the score is on that.

The letter was signed by Walter and Reps. Frazier of Tennessee and Moulder of Missouri.

The letter said that the only other Democratic member of the committee, Rep. Doyle of California, had told Walter in a telephone conversation he had been informed by Committee Counsel Robert Kunzig there would be no hearings this week.

In the same letter, the Democrats formally demanded that Brownell be subpoenaed as the first witness in any hearings that are held on the White case.

Brownell late in the day issued a statement saying the State Department had supplied him a copy of a memorandum dated Feb. 5, 1946, from Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman. Brownell said the memo shows that White's "espionage activities were known to the White House and other government agencies before Senate confirmation and before his promotion to the important position of executive director of the international monetary fund."

Loyalty Not Questioned

White's nomination was approved by the Senate Feb. 6, 1946.

Brownell also said the Justice Department will furnish the senate Internal Security Subcommittee as soon as possible requested information "concerning the laxity of the prior administration in dealing with Communist infiltration in government."

"In charging that there has has been laxity, which I believe to be the case," the attorney general said, "there is no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration."

In view of the Byrnes memo, Brownell said, it now seems beyond question that there was laxity.

The Byrnes memo for the President, as quoted by Brownell, said:

"The enclosed letter addressed to Mr. Frederick Lyon (then security officer) of this (State) Department by Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, and the enclosures referring to Dexter White, I deem of such importance that I think you should read them."

In a session with reporters that approached but never quite reached the boiling point, the President said the full FBI reports on White should not be made public, as they contain material that must be protected, but certainly the essentials of the evidence must be.

Eisenhower said he believes it is reckless, to say nothing of un-American, to make accusations from any kind of favored position where you are unprepared to show what has happened and to make available the essentials of the evidence.

Yet, thumping a desk with fingertips, the chief executive said he wasn't going to give his cabinet officer orders on methods of handling his responsibilities or prejudice his case in advance. He said he doesn't think Brownell intends to conceal anything other than the particular form of a document.

Brownell, Eisenhower declared, has got to handle the case in his own way now. He said he himself doesn't intend to be a party to what looks like rank injustice to anybody.

Every real American, the President said, must fight Communist ideologies and doctrines, but not in an un-American way that will destroy what we are trying to defend.

Twice Eisenhower folded his arms across chest, bristled and glared at his questioners. And it was with a show of irritation that he finally cut off inquiries on the White case after they ran on for 18 minutes and the greater part of the news conference.

In something of the fashion of a cross examiner, Raymond P. Brandt put in a whole series of questions suggested by his newspaper, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

One of them was:

"Do you think the administration's action in virtually putting a label of traitor on a former President is likely to damage our foreign relations?"

Obviously irked, Eisenhower replied that he rejected the premise and wouldn't answer the question.

Robert Spivack of the New York Post asked if he didn't think there was a moral obligation to make public the FBI reports on White, "since Mr. Brownell has impugned the loyalty of a former president and a grand jury said that it couldn't find a basis for indicting White."

Again Eisenhower said he wouldn't accept the premise that Brownell had impugned Truman's loyalty.

He said Brownell never told him that Truman ever saw the FBI papers while President. He said Brownell told him the papers went to the White House and that was all.

Eisenhower broke off the questioning on the White case after Robert Riggs of the Louisville Courier-Journal said there was some question as to whether the FBI report said White was a spy or merely associated with Communists.

"Did Mr. Brownell say to you that the FBI report called him a spy?" Riggs asked.

Eisenhower repeated something of what he had said before to the effect that Brownell had conferred with him an advance of making his charges in a speech in Chicago last Friday. He said Brownell reported there was evidence there had been subversive action of which high government officials were aware. Brownell mentioned White's name, and said the evidence was so clear he considered it his duty to lay it out and not be a party to concealing it.

Eisenhower said he told Brownell he had to follow his own conscience as to his duty.

This version varied a bit from that of White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. Hagerty told newsmen Friday that "the President told the attorney general it was his duty to report it to the American people."

Byrnes Urged Blocking

There was nothing to indicate whether the memo reached the White House Feb. 5 or actually was delivered to Truman. But Byrnes has said he conferred with Truman the day the Senate approved White's promotion. He said he suggested steps for blocking the appointment, but it went through anyway.

While Truman has said he doesn't remember receiving any FBI reports on White, Byrnes quoted him as saying he had read such a report and was surprised.

Byrnes himself, in a statement Monday night, didn't say anything about the FBI reporting on "espionage activities" by White. He said a representative of FBI Director Hoover had delivered to his secretary a copy of a report about White and "his affiliations with Communists."

Velde's committee is warring internally over the whole Brownell-White-Truman affair—over where it goes from here and whether the chairman broke committee rules in acting without consent of the full membership.

Some of the Republicans were all for going right ahead with hearings, regardless of Eisenhower's personal views. Democrats roundly applauded the President's stand. They have been protesting right along that Brownell's charges were a low form of politics.

Both the Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee have summoned Truman's former military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, for appearance Thursday. Brownell has said copies of the FBI reports on White were sent to Truman through Vaughan.

Joint Meeting Possible

Velde has been considering the idea of a joint meeting with the Senate subcommittee to question Vaughan. He said he would confer with the subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) Thursday, and have a statement on what will be done about a Vaughan hearing afterward.

Velde declined to comment on the possibility of postponement of any hearings for Truman and Clark or on the Democratic bid to make Brownell the first witness.

That was after a three-hour huddle with Reps. Clardy (R-Mich) and Scherer (R-Ohio), with Kunzig and the committee's research director, Raphael Nixon, sitting in.

The plan of the Jenner subcommittee, if it goes it alone, was to question Vaughan at a closed door session Thursday afternoon and then at an open, televised hearing in mid-afternoon.

The subcommittee also is eyeing T. Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general, as a witness. Caudle has been quoted as saying he begged Clark to take some action on the FBI reports on White.

The subcommittee set a closed meeting for Thursday morning with some unnamed witnesses. Possibly Caudle may be one of them.

CALVERT SURE CHANGED MY SOUR OUTLOOK!

"I was a pretty sad Sour a short while ago. Oh, I was nice looking enough in my orange slice—and all. But the host would shake me up—and his guests would shake me faster. Then, I switched to Calvert Reserve. I was smoother, mellower—really popular! You should switch to Calvert too! It makes all drinks taste better."

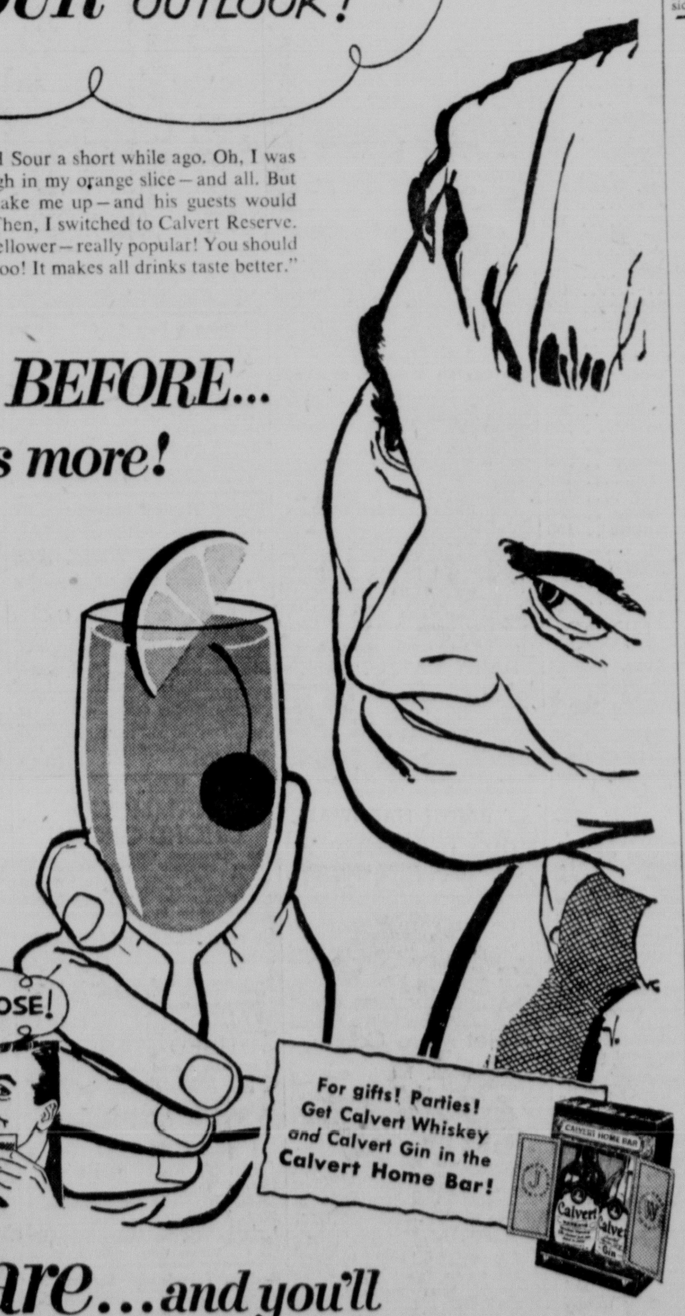

TEST WHISKIES BEFORE... and enjoy drinks more!

Your Whiskey Sour — or any whiskey drink — can be smooth and good tasting only if the whiskey you use is smooth and good tasting, too!

So, we say, compare your present brand with Calvert before you make or order your next drink. Pick the right whiskey for you this easy way:

SNIFF ¼-oz. samples of Calvert and the other whiskey for pleasing aroma. TASTE Calvert and the other whiskey for smoothness and freedom from bite. CHOOSE the whiskey you like better.

We feel sure that you'll pick Calvert for your next Whiskey Sour—or any whiskey drink. But you be the judge and choose the brand that really pleases you. Fair enough?

Compare...and you'll switch to Calvert

McKay Has Named Only 47 Of 55,000 Workers, Davis Says

OMAHA (AP)—Of about 55,000 employees of the Department of the Interior, Secretary McKay so far has been able to appoint 47, Clarence A. Davis of Lincoln said Wednesday.

Davis, now solicitor of the Department of Interior, made this statement at a news conference in Omaha where he was to participate in an institute on appellate procedure.

Davis said this low ratio of appointments by the new administration is the result of extension of the civil service system to the point "where some heads of bureaus claim civil service status."

"The issue is whether the government is going to be run by bureaus or by elected officials," he declared.

Davis referred to the recent suggestion of Attorney General Herbert Brownell that the Justice Department be allowed to grant immunity in some cases to obtain more complete information from witnesses.

Federal Judge Herbert F. Goodrich of Philadelphia, who also participated in the news conference, said that the powers of Congress to investigate are much broader than many people realize, but he added the committees must turn to the courts for punishment of reluctant witnesses.

Judge Goodrich, who is chief judge of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, Davis, and Frederick M. Deutsch, prominent Norfolk, Neb., attorney, were in Omaha to conduct an institute on appellate procedure in connection with the 54th annual meeting of the Nebraska Bar Association.

All three of the institute panel members approved the suggested merit plan for appointing district judges, which the bar association is expecting to approve at this convention.

They also expressed interest in the appointment of a court administrator with power to shift judges from one district to another to clear up backlogs of legal matters.

Davis said that the long delays in bringing cases to trial occur largely in cities of more than 50,000 and it would help ease this pressure if judges could be brought in from other districts where the dockets are current to help take care of the load.

The three insisted that legal language — which baffles so many laymen—isn't archaic and that there are constant efforts to improve and simplify it.

"It's down to the point now where if you'll tell a story in clear, understandable language you'll get by," Davis commented with reference to federal courts. He said that few legal writs any longer contain what he called "magic words."

In the day-long institute Davis was to discuss methods of handling an appeal; Deutsch will discuss the position of the judge in appellate matters.

Hat Is Historic

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—Anthony R. Francis left a battered silk hat on a business office ticket desk and a clerk consigned it to the dump. Francis retrieved it after much dump-picking. He says it once belonged to the late President William Howard Taft and he has worn it until it has become known to Francis' friends as his private trademark.
